

CONGO WORRIES JFK, MAC

-PRISON CONSOLIDATION-

Morrison Stamp Pleases Morris

State Institutions Director George Morris said Tuesday afternoon that he was pleased Gov. Frank Morrison had endorsed his recommendation for consolidation of the State Penitentiary and Men's Reformatory.

"Without his (the governor's) support, the proposal would have lacked something," Morris said.

The governor announced Tuesday morning that he would recommend to the Legislature that administration of the two institutions be combined.

Correctional Complex

The new institution would be known as the Nebraska Penal and Correctional Complex.

Morris was in Hastings when the governor made the announcement, and did not learn of it until Tuesday afternoon.

Morrison said his decision "in no way reflects upon the personnel now employed" at either the Penitentiary or Reformatory.

"I feel that this is a logical next step following action by the last Legislature to create a penal reception center. I think that this integration of administrations will save money and increase the effectiveness of the two institutions," Morrison said.

Morrison, who was not in Nebraska last week when a public hearing was held on conditions and operations at the Reformatory, said he surveyed Morris's report and decided "that a combining of the two institutions would be in line with progressive administration... and a step to keeping Nebraska as a respected state in penal rehabilitation."

"I also think this approach will prove to be not only effective from an economic standpoint, but should also enable us to be more effective in our overall approach to the two general objectives of penal institutions," he said.

Protect, Rehabilitate

These general objectives are, Morrison said, "protection of this state's society and rehabilitation of individuals."

Morrison noted that consolidation of the administrations of the two institutions "will not in any way merge different approaches to the training and rehabilitation of individuals at the prisons."

The governor said he would leave the job of naming a director for the proposed complex up to Morris.

Penitentiary Warden Maurice Sigler is considered a top candidate for the post.

However, Morris said Tuesday afternoon, "I don't know at this time just who would be my selection to head the complex. We'll have to see if the Legislature goes along with the plan first."

Morris said he will meet with the governor to determine what steps should be taken to get the proposal into bill form for presentation to the Legislature.

"Several state senators have voiced support of the correctional complex," he said.

Petticoat Crew Sailor's Dream

San Francisco (AP) — Lee Quinn will sail soon to his wife in Hawaii aboard his 45-foot ketch with a crew of 4—all girls, from Hawaii—the South Seas.

The 35-year-old adventurer already has signed on one dark haired beauty. She's Giselle Mayer, 22, a former receptionist in Vancouver, B.C. She owns a sloop in San Diego.

Quinn said no sea experience will be necessary for the 4 girls he is recruiting. There's only one requirement—that they be old enough to vote.

Means Something
"The feminine instinct to please really means something aboard ship," said Quinn by way of explaining plans for the expedition of his ketch, Neophyte.

"You tell a girl to do something aboard ship and she has the inbred instinct to want to comply."

Quinn, whose most recent occupation has been to help erect more than 200 radio towers across the country, will make one crew change in Hawaii.

His wife, Mary Ann, 34, now competing there in the international surfboard championships, will replace one of the 4 sailing from San Francisco.

After that—the Marquesas, Tuamotus and Tahiti.

U.S. MISSION WILL BE SENT

Military Needs Of U.N. Are To Be Studied; Nassau Talks Open

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Nassau, Bahamas (AP)—President Kennedy and Prime Minister Macmillan began their talks Tuesday with an unexpected focus of concern over a possible new Soviet threat in the Congo.

Even before the American and British leaders met for an hour in balmy December weather, U.S. official sources disclosed Kennedy had decided to send a top U.S. military mission to the Congo.

U.S. officials were believed to feel the Russians may move into the Congo, particularly if the persisting secession in Katanga Province brings about a collapse of the moderate central government at Leopoldville.

The Soviet Union held a strong hand in the Congo for a time when the late Patrice Lumumba ruled as premier. And now remnant leftist followers of Lumumba threaten the Leopoldville government on the Katanga and other issues.

Skybolt a Big Topic

Kennedy and Macmillan flew here to seek an end of the Skybolt missile dispute that divides them and to strengthen the U.S.-British alliance in the cold war. The Congo is a potential cold war trouble spot, and is an area in which Britain also is deeply concerned.

The day was not all business. Kennedy dropped in on a cocktail party for members of the press at Lyford Cay, a real estate development where the two are holding their conferences. He stayed about 10 minutes but drank nothing.

Macmillan turned up nearly two hours later at a barbeque at the Emerald Beach Hotel, drank beer with members of the official parties and listened to calypso Count Bernadino sing.

"Welcome, welcome, Macmillan and Kennedy. You're visiting Nassau will go down in history."

Tough Problems

But this was only a pleasant respite from the discussions of tough problems confronting the two leaders in the next two days.

The announcement that a U.S. military mission was being sent to the Congo came as a surprise.

The 8-man mission will be led by Lt. Gen. Louis W. Truman, a Kansas City cousin of former President Truman.

The mission's task is to make an urgent survey of the needs of the U.N. forces in the Congo and their ability to deal with what Washington fears may be increased conflicts over Congo unification, informants reported.

Growing Concern

The informants said the decision reached at the White House Monday came amid increasing U.S. concern over some new bids by Russia to establish a power position in the central African nation. These informants would not exclude the possibility that in an extreme crisis the United States would consider putting some American forces into the Congo.

In a co-ordinated move at U.N. Headquarters in New York U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson conveyed the U.S. decision to U.N. Secretary-General U Thant.

The disclosure evoked surprise among U.N. delegates there.

Collision Kills 3 At Alliance

Alliance (AP) — Three persons were fatally injured late Tuesday in a head-on crash about 5 miles east of Alliance on Nebraska Highway 2.

The victims were Frank Albright, 89, and his wife, about 80, of Edgemont, S. D., and Oren Keller, 63, of Hyannis.

The cars were driven by Keller and Don E. McMann of Alliance. McMann, 51, suffered minor injuries as did Mrs. Maizie Keller, wife of Oren Keller. The Albrights were passengers in the Keller car.

County Attorney John O. Anderson of Alliance said investigation indicated the McMann car was on the wrong side of the highway.

The deaths raised the state's 1962 traffic toll to 386. It was 310 on Dec. 18 of last year.

26-Year-Old Comstock Farmer Heads NFO

Bryce Bartu of Comstock, a 26-year-old farmer who has been 3rd district chairman of the National Farmers Organization, was named state NFO president Tuesday.

Orville Lenz of Elmwood, who resigned as president, will serve the NFO in the newly created post of state legislative director.

Other officers elected were: Ellis Liesemeyer of Avoca, vice president; Howard Rath of Weeping Water, secretary, and James Kathol of Hartington, treasurer.

With only one state officer over 40, the NFO will be represented by the youngest group to lead a state farm organization, said an NFO official.

Pledge Violated By Red Chinese

Tezpur, India (AP)—Travelers said Tuesday the Chinese Communists are violating their pledge to withdraw from areas seized during the frontier war with India.

Persons, who returned from Bomdi La in the foothills of the Northeast Frontier Agency (NEFA), said Chinese troops are camping near the areas from which they had withdrawn and are constantly watching Indian movements.

The Chinese came down from their positions on high ridges after dusk. The travelers said the Chinese appear to be unarmed.

"Their appearance has become so frequent and almost a routine affair that Indians—all unarmed civilians—no longer feel seriously panicky at Chinese approaches in the Chaku area," the travelers reported.

Meanwhile, the Chinese prepared to release 360 Indian prisoners. It will be the biggest single delivery to India Red Cross teams. Observers said the release is part of a well-planned Communist program to conserve gains from the systematic looting of Indian property stores and supplies in such localities as Bomdi La, Chaky, Tenga valley and Dirang Dzong.

Indian army men now in Red custody are proving liabilities to their captors who are facing an acute shortage of food, essential supplies and transportation.

Chink Dislikes

The Chinese dislike to see Indian prisoners using their supplies of medicines, particularly items like penicillin which they looted. The Reds also dislike using valuable gasoline to carry Indian sick and wounded farther north to Tibet or China.

Released Indian prisoners confirm the Chinese unwillingness to extend even marginally effective medical care to Indians.

Prisoner Swap With Cuba Near

Havana (AP)—Negotiators seeking to exchange food and medicine for 1,113 Cuban invasion prisoners were reported conferring Tuesday night with Prime Minister Fidel Castro. There was guarded optimism that the men might be released by Christmas.

A 4-member negotiating team headed by James B. Donovan of New York arrived earlier in the day from Miami, Fla.

Mrs. Berta Barreto, a negotiator, told a reporter shortly after arriving that the exchange for the prisoners captured in the Bay of Pigs invasion could come about soon — "God willing." Relatives in Miami were hopeful the swap would be arranged by Christmas.

Later, callers at her room were told that she and the other 4 had been summoned by Castro.

Brief press reports in Havana newspapers said the team had arrived "to continue conversations with the revolutionary government on reparations payments for material damage caused through last year's frustrated mercenary invasion."

Relatives in Cuba were jubilant. They heard over U.S. and Cuban radio that an American freighter was ready to deliver food and medicine in exchange for the captives taken in the ill-fated April 1961 Bay of Pigs invasion.

Castro demanded $62 million for their freedom, and later agreed to food and medicine valued by Castro at $62 million.

Steaming from Baltimore to Port Everglades, Fla., north of Miami, was the S. S. African Pilot.

The 435-foot freighter, loaned by the Farrell Lines to the American Red Cross, which assumed sponsorship of the prisoner exchange, is expected at the Florida port Thursday.

If the prisoners are released, they probably will be flown in charter planes to Miami, said Cuban families committee officials there.

Guards In Argentina Slay Cons

... AFTER RIOT

Buenos Aires, Argentina (AP)—Prisoners rioted in this capital's big Villa de Voto jail Tuesday, killed 10 guards and held 20 other persons hostage for 10 hours. Late Tuesday night they called it quits and released the hostages unharmed. But bloodshed continued into Wednesday.

Guards angered by the slayings of their fellow guards mutinied against their superiors and, seeking vengeance, invaded barricaded prisoner quarters and shot down inmates indiscriminately, reports said.

Casualties among the prisoners were not immediately determined.

Fire Brigade

Central police headquarters dispatched a fire brigade to the prison area to put down the guards' revolt and block the attempt by prisoners to escape.

More than 200 guards invaded the prisoners' area shortly before midnight after ignoring pleas from top security officials to allow the 400 inmates to surrender peacefully.

Shouting "we are the judges" and "we'll kill them all," the guards expelled all superior officials from prison grounds and made for the prisoners. Firing continued an hour after the guards began their rampage.

4 Killed

There was no direct communication with the prison but word came out just after a machine gun burst was heard that at least 4 prisoners had been killed. They were said to have been a committee that had volunteered to talk with the aroused guards.

Herando Beiro, one of the prison guards held hostage, said the mutineers in one block told two captive guards to eat supper, then shot them in the back.

Another hostage said in a second part of the prison one ringleader wanted to shoot some hostages but the other mutineers protested loudly and restrained him.

Mutineers cowered in barricaded cell blocks in various parts of the jail, fearing vengeance of the guards.

ISSUES FOR '63-

Controversy Centers On One Power Plan

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of 3 articles on the public power dispute and one of a series by The Star's political writer on issues facing the 1963 Legislature.)

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Although the Legislative Council's public power study committee offered 3 specific recommendations for new power legislation, the greatest controversy has centered on only one.

The proposals, in their simplest terms:

- 1) merger of all generation and transmission agencies in the eastern two-thirds of Nebraska, excluding the Omaha Public Power District.
- 2) creation of a 3-member state power review board.
- 3) legislation to give the force and effect of law to voluntary retail and wholesale service area agreements.

The latter proposal has the blessing of all major power agencies.

The second has stirred no great debate but it might once the proposal takes definite legislative form for it actually amounts to a power commission, long and bitterly opposed by almost all power interests.

The first has punctured a hornet's nest.

Leaders Comment

Here are the comments of leading power spokesmen with reference to that recommendation.

Ray Schacht of Columbus, general manager of Consumers Public Power District: "The general objective as developed by the committee appears similar to that which Consumers has believed for many years to be the best solution."

CPDP's board of directors urged such a plan in 1955 and again in 1961.

Ralph Foreman of Columbus, manager of the Nebraska Electric Generation and Transmission Cooperative, Inc., and a spokesman for rural districts, declared:

"If the power people in this state are to do their job in the best interests of the people of Nebraska in solving power problems, they will work with the Legislature in developing the plan provided in this committee report."

The Nebraska Rural Electric Assn. favored such a proposal in testimony before the 1961 Legislature's Public Works Committee, and adopted resolutions again this year favorable to such a reorganization.

Rurals Divided

The rural voice is somewhat divided by Lester Trussell of Beatrice, general manager of Norris Public Power District and a strong supporter of division of the state into 5 retail-wholesale districts similar to OPPD.

Trussell said he wants to see the committee's plan transformed into specific legislation before he decides whether he can support it or not.

John Preston of Columbus, general manager of Loup River Public Power District, flatly opposes the merger.

"We prefer the area concept," Preston pointed out. "Our board's policy is favorable to dividing the state into districts responsive to the needs of each area."

Gerald Gentleman of North Platte, general manager of Platte Valley Public Power and Irrigation District, said his board is disappointed with the proposal and is "opposed to it."

Platte likes the proposed area plan, Gentleman explained, because it recognizes the interests of various areas of the state and does not impair the interests of Nebraska.

N.Y. Paper Strike May Last

New York (AP)—Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz said Tuesday the 11-day printers strike that has blacked out New York's 9 major newspapers could continue for 6 or 8 weeks or even into March.

"You cannot dismiss that possibility," he told a news conference at City Hall. "The possibility should be taken seriously—it's that serious. It is possible for it to go 6 or 8 weeks or into March."

Wirtz met with Mayor Robert F. Wagner to discuss not only the newspaper strike but also a threatened Atlantic and Gulf port dock strike.

Earlier, peace talks were resumed for the first time in a week between the AFL-CIO International Typographical Union and the publishers. But they got nowhere and were recessed until Wednesday.

"We haven't moved a millimeter as far as closing the gap is concerned," reported Bertram A. Powers, president of the ITU's striking Local 6.

Federal Mediator Stephen I. Schlossberg, who supervised negotiations, said there was a "no progress whatsoever in the basic positions."

Wirtz canvassed the newspaper situation a week ago and found the printers union hopelessly deadlocked with the Publishers Association of New York over wages, hours and fringe benefits. Federal mediators suspended negotiations Dec. 12 for lack of progress.

Tax Slash Retroactive To Jan. 1 Predicted

Biggest Cut
In Personal
Levy Urged

... By Sec. Hodges

Washington (P)—Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges said Tuesday he believes President Kennedy still wants next year's proposed tax cuts made retroactive to Jan. 1 and declared his own view that most of the reduction should be in the personal income tax.

Hodges said the individual income tax savings would have a quicker stimulative effect than corporate rate cuts, getting the extra buying power more quickly "into the main stream of the economy."

Hodges disclosed at a news conference that national output now has topped the $560 billion-a-year rate and predicted that production gains will continue to set new records in 1963.

Pace Needs Quickening

"But the pace is not satisfactory," Hodges said, and tax reduction is needed to stimulate the rate of business expansion "over the long pull."

Although Kennedy, in his speech last week to the New York Economic Club, did not mention Jan. 1, 1963, as the target date for tax reduction to take effect, Hodges told a questioner:

"I think the President does want the reduction retroactive to Jan. 1; I think that is what the President recommended."

This conflicted with a widely-held impression that Kennedy, confronted with the coolness of congressional leaders to a retroactive reduction, has backed away from his original plan to seek a two-stage bill with a portion of the cuts being made effective as of New Year's day.

Hodges declared that many businessmen agree with his view that the emphasis in tax reduction should be on the individual income tax rather than on corporate rates. Corporation cuts also are necessary, Hodges said, but are slower to make an impact.

West Again Rejects Red Moratorium

Geneva (UPI)—The Soviet Union said Tuesday the world's nuclear powers should declare a moratorium on all nuclear testing from New Year's Day even if no test ban agreement is reached.

Western spokesmen responded that any unpoliced moratorium was unacceptable as ever. They recalled how the Soviet broke a 3-year moratorium with a series of weapons tests in the fall of 1961.

The spokesmen said the West is prepared to stop testing only if it has adequate safeguards against cheating by the Russians. The Soviet move, they said, was an obvious propaganda gambit aimed at public opinion among the neutral and so-called non-aligned nations.

Soviet negotiator Semyon K. Tsarapkin blamed the United States and Britain again for the lack of progress by the test ban subcommittee of the 17-nation disarmament conference.

He said no formal agreement can be reached "while the West persists in its old and unacceptable positions"—an obvious reference to Western insistence on fool-proof guarantees against cheating.

Tsarapkin said nuclear testing in all environments should be stopped by Jan. 1 in line with last month's United Nations General Assembly resolution, even though the talks here are deadlocked on the question of international inspection of suspected underground blasts.

He accused the United States and Britain of trying to "lead the talks deeper into disagreement" by insisting on technical discussions of the so-called "black boxes"—unmanned seismic stations.

The stations have been proposed by the Russians as a way of getting around the inspection issue.

Railroads File Reply To Unions

... In Work Rules Fight

Chicago (UPI)—The railroads filed in federal court today their reply to the petition of 5 operating unions for rehearing of a decision supporting management efforts to end so-called "featherbedding."

The unions, representing more than 200,000 workers, last Thursday asked the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals to reconsider its ruling that the railroads have a right to put work rules changes into effect.

The unions contended that the court's Nov. 28 decision in effect repealed provisions of the Railway Labor Act.

Rejected by Carriers

The railroads' brief rejected this as "ill-reasoned," and said the union petition "does not cite any section of the act which might be violated."

"No such section exists," the brief said, "for the act does not perpetuate any one craft or class or any one labor organization."

The proposed rules changes would abolish jobs of 60,000 to 80,000 men over a 5-year period. A temporary restraining order prevents the railroads from imposing the rules changes until the appeals court hands down a mandate to the Federal District Court.

Crop Production This Year Matches Record Of 1960

... Despite Smallest Acreage In Modern Times

Washington (P)—The Agriculture Department reported Tuesday that total crop production this year matched the record level of 1960 despite the smallest acreage in modern times.

In its final crop production report of the year, the department said record high yields per acre for many crops was the major factor in raising production to the record level. Earlier forecasts this year had indicated the volume would be about 3.5% below the record.

Much land was retired from use this year under government grain programs.

The report said favorable growing weather in the central part of the nation helped corn and other feed grains reach record yields per acre.

Compared with last year, food grain, vegetables, fruits and nuts showed some decline in output, while other groups included in the crop production pattern increased.

Acreage of the 59 major crops planted or grown this year totaled 302 million acres. This was nearly 3% less than last year and the lowest since the department started keeping records in 1929.

Tito Departs On His Private Train After Soviet Visit

Moscow (P)—President Tito of Yugoslavia set out for home Tuesday night with Premier Khrushchev accompanying him as far as Kiev.

The two communist chiefs, who have seen one another almost every day since Tito arrived last Dec. 4, left Moscow aboard Tito's special train.

Khrushchev's gesture in accompanying his guest on his homeward journey was regarded here as highly unusual—probably intended as a special honor to a once outlawed Soviet bloc renegade.

Tito was expected to spend two days visiting the Ukrainian capital of Kiev. It was presumed Khrushchev would remain with him until he heads for the Soviet border.

Before their departure, Khrushchev gave Tito and his wife a farewell dinner in Moscow's House of Reception.

The Soviet news agency Tass said the two exchanged toasts and made speeches but it gave no details.

Mom Determined To Speed Romance Winds Up In Jail

Palermo, Sicily (UPI)—When mechanic Salvatore Sammarco, 18, appeared cool to the idea of marrying Anna Messina, the girl's mother decided to speed up things, police reported Tuesday.

She invited the young man to her home, then locked him up in a room with Anna for 4 days.

Sammarco's parents alerted police, who freed Salvatore and arrested the two women on charges of restricting his personal liberty.

Senegal's President Is Victor

Dakar, Senegal (P)—Cheered by thousands of his countrymen, President Leopold Senghor sealed his victory in a power struggle by arresting his ousted premier, Mamadou Dia.

The National Assembly cleared the way for the conservative leader earlier in the day by abolishing the office of premier, turning these powers over to Senghor and stripping the leftist Dia of parliamentary immunity from arrest.

Senghor announced he will prosecute Dia and his followers for abuse of authority in trying to seize power Monday. Dia had split with Senghor over economic policy and tried to abolish the Assembly to head off a pending motion of censure. Senghor's supporters have a majority in the 80-member Assembly.

Throughout the day, paratroopers had surrounded Dia's home in the Medina sector of Dakar where he was conferring with 5 of his followers.

After the Assembly took away Dia's immunity from arrest, the troops moved in and seized him. Informed sources said he may be held on Goree Island, off the Dakar waterfront.

A short distance away from Dia's residence, thousands of Senegalese massed around the presidential palace to cheer Senghor.

Mild And Cloudy Weather Picture

Mild temperatures and cloudy skies are expected to continue over most of Nebraska Wednesday, partly the result of the movement of a low pressure trough along the eastern border.

Some light rain is likely in the southern portions.

Highs are to range from near 40 central and northeast to near 50 southeast and west.

Kearney enjoyed the state high of 61 degrees Tuesday. Norfolk reported the low of 20. Lincoln had 57 and 29.

Tersely Told Tales

Beverly Hills, Calif. (UPI)—Mrs. Sophia Goldbogen, mother of the late movie producer Mike Todd, died Tuesday at the age of 100.

Patras, Greece (P)—Thousands of persons driven to high ground by flash floods began returning to their homes Tuesday. This western port city still was awash with mud and swirling brown water, however.

Hollywood (P)—Dick Chamberlain and Connie Stevens picked up golden apples Tuesday as Hollywood's most cooperative actor and actress.

New York (UPI)—Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz said Tuesday negotiations have failed to settle any of the issues of the maritime dispute that may lead to resumption next week of a strike that paralyzed ports along the East and Gulf coasts.

This fact, in itself, is a hopeful sign, Wirtz said.

U.N. Council Is Asked To Penalize Portugal

United Nations, N.Y. (P)—The U.N. General Assembly Tuesday asked the Security Council to impose penalties in Portugal in an effort to compel that country to set its African territory of Angola on the road to independence.

Asian-African nations supported by the Communist Bloc approved a harshly worded resolution calling for sanctions—the diplomatic term for penalties—by a vote of 57 to 14 with 18 abstentions. Twenty-one nations were absent.

The United States, Britain and France opposed the resolution. That cast doubt on any actual call for sanctions since each has a bill power veto in the council.

NATO Allies

Five additional NATO allies of Portugal joined in the no vote. They were Canada, Italy, the Netherlands, Luxembourg and Turkey. Others voting no included Austria, Bolivia, New Zealand, South Africa, Spain and Portugal.

Three NATO powers were among the abstainers—Denmark, Greece and Norway.

The resolution was the toughest of any yet passed by the assembly in dealing with Angola, the sprawling territory on Africa's southwest coast where Portuguese rule is being challenged by independence-seeking natives.

By its action the assembly requested all member states to stop arms shipments to Portugal—a move directed at the NATO allies.

Condemned

The resolution condemned Portugal for waging what was described as a "colonial war against the Angola people."

It urged anew that Portugal release all political prisoners. Lift a ban on political parties, and undertake reforms that would mean eventual independence for the Angolan people.

It called Portugal's non-compliance with previous resolutions inconsistent with membership in the United Nations.

Hruska Says: Tax Cut Would Cost Too Much ... WITHOUT SPENDING DROP

Omaha (AP) — A tax cut without a reduction in federal spending appears to be too high a price to pay for "pure, untried experimentation," Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., said Tuesday.

Unless spending is reduced, a tax cut would bring inflation rather than stimulation of the economy, and persons on fixed incomes — such as the elderly — would experience the greatest hardship, Hruska said in a talk before the Omaha Chamber of Commerce.

He spoke at the final public affairs luncheon of the year.

In his appraisal of the coming session of Congress, Hruska said the administration is certain to push again for heavy spending programs such as medical care through Social Security, which he called a "cruel hoax," federal aid to education, urban renewal, physical fitness, foreign aid, and a supply management farm program.

To talk of a cut in taxes in the light of these spending programs is "plain unadulterated double-talk," Hruska declared.

Hruska said that between 1954 and 1962 non-defense spending had jumped from $20 billions to $40 billions, while defense spending has risen only $5 billions from $47 billion to $52 billion.

The Omaha Senator declared the administration's philosophy is clearly one of injecting the federal government into every phase of the economy, a grasp for power, and a distrust of the American citizen.

He declared it's time to get away from "cringing dependence on bureaucrats" who seek to take huge taxes and then dole out the taxpayer's money in federally controlled programs.

Cease Harassment

He said the government should cease harassing business, interfering unduly in labor disputes, and "stop harassment on this silly business of expense accounts." Violators of income-tax laws should be prosecuted in the courts, he said, but the government should not "penalize everybody" and make everybody guilty until he proves himself innocent.

Hruska saved his bitterest comment, however, for the proposed "domestic Peace Corps," which he called "the most lurid, dramatic example of the distrust of the American people ... of the way we should achieve our national destiny."

"God save us from the domestic Peace Corps," he said. "I hope you'll reject it."

The alternative to this federal grasp for power he said, is the time-worn but true concept of a government "of laws not of men."

Bottle Club Legislation Is Planned

Sen. Marvin E. Stromer of Lincoln disclosed Tuesday that he is having a bill drafted for the 1963 Legislature calling for the regulation of bottle clubs.

Stromer said he has had a considerable study made of the Missouri statutes regulating such clubs, and has also discussed the matter with two members of the Nebraska State Liquor Commission.

Mayor Pat Boyles also said Tuesday that an effort will be made to induce the 1963 Legislature to enact legislation regulating bottle clubs.

"The absence of state legislation in this field makes it almost impossible for the city to have any control over local bottle clubs," he said.

"It is no secret that Lincoln has bottle clubs and the city is having problems with some of them."

NU Loses In National Moot Court Contests

New York (AP) — Five teams of law students advanced Tuesday night in the first round of the 13th annual national moot court competition sponsored by the New York Bar Association. The competition continues through Thursday.

The University of Virginia defeated Southern California, Southern Methodist defeated Washington and Lee, University of Michigan defeated Washburn University (of Topeka), Detroit Law College defeated University of Washington, and Georgetown defeated Nebraska.

The arguments involved the right of an accused to counsel at all stages of a criminal case and the legal consequences of the Senate's failure to confirm the President's recess appointment of a federal judge.

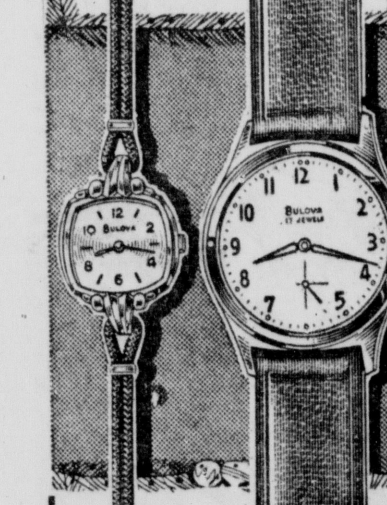

(The 3-man Nebraska team — Clayton Yeutter, William Hemmer and Fred Kauffman — advanced to the national finals by winning the regional competition at St. Louis last month.)

ship, Hruska said in a talk before the Omaha Chamber of Commerce.

He spoke at the final public affairs luncheon of the year.

In his appraisal of the coming session of Congress, Hruska said the administration is certain to push again for heavy spending programs such as medical care through Social Security, which he called a "cruel hoax," federal aid to education, urban renewal, physical fitness, foreign aid, and a supply management farm program.

To talk of a cut in taxes in the light of these spending programs is "plain unadulterated double-talk," Hruska declared.

Hruska said that between 1954 and 1962 non-defense spending had jumped from $20 billions to $40 billions, while defense spending has risen only $5 billions from $47 billion to $52 billion.

The Omaha Senator declared the administration's philosophy is clearly one of injecting the federal government into every phase of the economy, a grasp for power, and a distrust of the American citizen.

He declared it's time to get away from "cringing dependence on bureaucrats" who seek to take huge taxes and then dole out the taxpayer's money in federally controlled programs.

Cease Harassment

He said the government should cease harassing business, interfering unduly in labor disputes, and "stop harassment on this silly business of expense accounts." Violators of income-tax laws should be prosecuted in the courts, he said, but the government should not "penalize everybody" and make everybody guilty until he proves himself innocent.

Hruska saved his bitterest comment, however, for the proposed "domestic Peace Corps," which he called "the most lurid, dramatic example of the distrust of the American people ... of the way we should achieve our national destiny."

Willard E. Townsend Installed By Chamber

Willard E. Townsend was installed president of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night at the annual meeting of the Chamber board of directors.

Townsend, owner of Best Launderers and Cleaners, succeeds James Ebel, head of Lincoln television station KLIN-TV and radio station KLIN. Ebel will continue as a board member through 1963.

Other new officers are: Myron Weil, first vice president; Harold Salisbury, second vice president; Donald I. Parker, 3rd vice president; and Walter Nolte, treasurer.

Board Shift

The annual meeting brought a shift in board membership. Retiring board members were William O. Dobler, Orville Kingery, Kenneth Lawson, Phil Mahoney, William Mowbray, Jack Trombla and past President Jack Thompson.

Myron Weil, another director among the retiring group, was appointed for a further year.

Newly named directors are James N. Ackerman, James A. Bradley, William Burke, John M. Campbell, Joe R. Seacrest, Dale Tintman and Tom Woods, Jr.

Townsend opened his administration on a note of unity of spirit pledging the chamber to further its already projected program of developing Lincoln as an industrial center plus its advancement as a cultural and educational center.

'Payrolls Not Enough'

"Payrolls," he said, "are not enough; We are dedicated to the advancement of the community on all fronts, emphasizing an environment which has characterized Lincoln as an admirable living place."

Reminding the Chamber is the community's one major continuing entity concerned with growth and development. Townsend stressed the importance of its true image before the citizens of the city.

Townsend asserted that the Chamber's "past is a good basis upon which to build its future" and reminded directors that the obligations of the presidency are greater than the honor.

New Officers

Townsend named the new officers, Past President Ebel and the presidents of the Junior Chamber and the Women's Division to his executive committee.

He also announced promotion of Duane Vicary, manager of the membership department, to business manager and assistant general manager.

The directors heard 1962 activities reports of the Women's Division, given by Aurelia Plautz, past president, and the Junior Chamber, given by President Robert Peterson.

Grace Peterson was installed president of the Women's Division for 1963.

Public Judicial Selection Meeting Set

A public meeting will be held in the State Supreme Court chambers at 3 p.m. Friday by the Third Judicial District Selection Committee to allow any interested citizens to appear and present names for consideration for the Lancaster District judgeship being vacated by Paul White.

Supreme Court Justice Harry Spencer, chairman of the committee, announced the plan for the public meeting following an organizational meeting of the selection committee at the State Capitol Tuesday afternoon.

Judge Spencer said Gov. Frank Morrison called him Tuesday morning to advise him of the 3 lay members he had named to the committee, and that he, Spencer, had then called for the organizational meeting.

Lay members are Walton Ferris, James Rieder and L. K. Emry, all of Lincoln. The 3 members named by the Lincoln-Lancaster Bar Association are Flavel Wright, Guy Chambers and Allen W. Field, all of Lincoln.

Commenting on the public meeting, Judge Spencer said that in addition to public appearances, interested individuals "may also submit in writing any material they consider relevant."

"All names submitted should be accompanied by the written consent of the proposed nominee to serve if appointed," he continued.

Judge Spencer said it is the committee's intention to submit the names of its candidates to the governor as quickly as possible so there will be no vacancy in the district post when White assumes his new position as chief justice of the Nebraska Supreme Court.

Parachutes Don't Open; Diver Dies

Grand Island, Neb. (UPI) — Jack Sargent, 25, a member of the Grand Island police force, was killed Tuesday afternoon when neither his main parachute nor an auxiliary chute opened while he was sport jumping near here.

Sargent had leaped from a small plane at about 1,200 feet altitude over a field just north of Camp Augustine, a Boy Scout camp about 5 miles south of here.

Dale Parsons, who had jumped just ahead of Sargent, said Sargent tried to use his auxiliary chute when he was only about 200 feet from the ground. But, like the main chute, it failed to open.

Sargent, who was a veteran jumper and a former member of the Paratroops, was killed instantly.

His wife and some friends were waiting on the ground and watched in horror as Sargent fell to his death.

Parsons said Sargent had packed both chutes and the two men had planned to make only one jump before Sargent reported for work at 3 p.m. at the police station.

The accident happened about 1:15 p.m.

Rescuers Work To Reach Four Cave-In Captives

Tullahoma, Tenn. (AP) — The 4 workers believed buried underneath the rubble of a space construction project cave-in have been identified, but the Air Force estimated it may be days before rescuers can reach the bodies.

The men were identified by the contractor as Ernie Beitel, carpenter's superintendent, Manchester, Tenn.; W.D. Lowrie, carpenter, Monteagle, Tenn.; W. A. Anderson, laborer, Beech Grove, Tenn.; and Woodrow Darden, laborer, Normandy, Tenn.

The men are feared to have died when a construction form crumbled at a 250-foot underground rocket test silo and dumped 840 tons of new concrete to the floor below.

Living With Responsibility

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Coming through with "vigor" in the remarks made by the President in his address to the nation over video tape was his great feeling of being weighted down with the responsibility of his office. The President was not in any sense pessimistic nor does he appear as though his two years in office have materially damaged his health. But he has obviously found out what every president finds out when he takes the office—it is a unique job.

In two key areas he demonstrated some impatience and he spoke so bluntly in one area that his newsmen interviewers reminded him in good humor that his words might later come back to haunt him. He recognized this haunting possibility but did not alter the position he had taken. Impatience was shown first with those who might loosely be classed as trigger-happy in matters of foreign policy. The President stressed the human nature of the problem that confronts him in all such matters. It is more, in fact, than human nature; it is life itself. Always in the mind of the President, he noted, is the fact that nuclear war would take the lives of hundreds of millions of people.

It is one thing to sit and guess or speculate, even in the light of all available facts and expert advice, as to the possible reaction of the Soviet Union to any move and it is quite another thing to take firm action on the basis of such speculation. Always looming before you is the spectre of wholesale death and destruction if you speculate incorrectly.

This is a kind of nightmare which must be viewed with great reality as well as great compassion and understanding. It is up to the President to strike a balance between those objectives which must be pursued to maintain our freedom and those objectives which can be put off for the sake of safety until a later time. In other words, humanity is to be put in jeopardy only when the failure to do so carries with it dangers of different but equal proportions.

In his other show of what we have called impatience, the President took to task the nations of Europe that have become prosperous since the end of World War II but have shown increasing signs of growing inward rather than outward. The United States, said President Kennedy, does not intend to abandon its commitments to help the struggling nations of the world reach maturity or to let up in its responsibility to share in the burdens of defending the free world. But he agreed that there was a limit as to the burden that could be placed upon the American people for support of the rest of the world. We have millions of military personnel, he said, spread throughout the world, not for the purpose of conquest as nations in the past have done but for the purpose of defending these nations.

We have carried the brunt of nuclear responsibility, of conventional warfare and of economic development for the past twenty years, he said, and have a right to expect that as the nations of Europe achieve prosperity, they accept their full share of responsibility in these matters. He referred directly to the Skybolt missile dispute now going on between England and the United States. He noted that a target in the nuclear age needs to be hit only once and that we have the striking force to hit any and all targets that suit us with the existing nuclear force of the United States without the help of Skybolt. This was undoubtedly the strongest statement made by the President in what was billed as an accounting of his two years in office.

One of his interviewers asked him if these words might not come back to haunt him. The interviewer was thinking of future congressional action on foreign aid and the fact that many congressmen have been saying for a long time that we are pouring too much money into foreign lands. But the reminder did not change the President's position.

He noted that the money we have put into South America is a mere trifle compared to the billions that have gone into the development and defense of Europe and Asia and other parts of the world. He spoke of African and South American nations where the average annual income is less than $100 a year and pointed out that this is a major area of concern today.

His remarks on this score will not go over very big in England, in France, Spain, Italy, West Germany, Greece and other European nations but the President displayed a resolve in the tone and character of his remarks that mark this as a major field of effort for the administration in the years ahead. In all that he said, including the fact that his use of federal troops in the Mississippi integration battle was the exercise of his constitutional responsibility, there was not a great deal that was new. He touched only briefly on domestic matters and gave no hint as to any major changes in this legislative battleground.

But much of what he said is easily forgotten by people of this nation as well as of the world. He let us know again that the struggle against communism is to be a long and indefinite one. It is well that the American people are treated now and then to such an analysis as this of the trend of affairs and the forces that play upon the front line of battle in Washington. It is only with such insight that we are able to maintain our perspective in times that constantly try us.

Staley Is Back In

The National Farm Organization has re-elected one of its founding fathers, Oren Lee Staley, as its 1963 president.

Staley spearheaded the organizations general holdout action on livestock last fall—an adventure that fell short of its goal. It also caused a division within the young organization which threatened Staley's career. His re-election indicated that he still has the support of the majority and a turnout of 9,000 at the NFO annual meeting shows that the movement is anything but dead.

It is easy to second guess Staley. And there were prudent farm leaders whose experience with realities suggested that the withholding action was too slightly manned to prevail against widespread, strong and skillful opposition.

Credit Where It Belongs

A recent crediting here of two legislative proposals to freshman Sen. T. C. Reeves of Central City was in error, the correction of which also permits us the chance to give a little more thought to a subject deserving of additional attention. Senator Reeves plans to introduce legislation for annual rather than biennial meetings of the Nebraska Legislature, a plan which has a great deal of merit.

However, it is Sen. Marvin Stromer of Lincoln, not Senator Reeves as was earlier reported here, who plans to introduce legislation changing the date of the Nebraska primary from May to September. Of greatest importance, however, is not who introduces the legislation but how much support it receives. The primary date in Nebraska has varied through the

The greater lesson in the action has little to do with the NFO. It provided an excellent example of the near impossibility for the individual farmer or even consequential groups of them to go into an open market to assert a demand for equitable prices. It gave a good illustration of the delusion preached by at least one rival farm organization and believed by many that farm programs are unnecessary and that agriculture could cure its ills if let alone.

If there was a fault in NFO leadership, it was one shared by the membership. It was the tendency to oversimplify both the problem and its solution. This is a forgivable error. It should neither shake the confidence of the membership nor weaken the heart of the leadership.

years and why it was ever set for May is a little hard to understand.

The fact is that a great many matters pertaining to our elective system are in need of overhauling but this is one that can be done, it would seem, with little argument. It is hoped that some day there will be study given locally as well as on the national level to the expenditure of funds for political campaigns—a situation which has certainly gotten far out of hand.

The simple changing of the primary date, however, would help even this matter as it would cut down the time for campaigns. To run a campaign from May to November is a financial drain upon candidates as well as a drain upon the endurance, physically and mentally, of candidates and the public.

We Came Through Big

It was good to receive back the victorious Nebraska Cornhuskers and, no doubt, it was a warming experience for those red blooded, red shirted fellows to get back to a healthy environment.

The Gotham Bowl was a field of honor for the lads who played in it. It is doubtful whether any of the other bowl games will match it for drama and general excel-

Holy Land Is Troubled Place

WASHINGTON—The camels still pad along the deserts of Jordan as they did 2,000 years ago and crowd up the narrow paved passageway to the Damascus gate. The people of the Holy Land, in flowing robes and wearing sandals, still drive their asses and hawk their wares through the alleys of Jerusalem. And the cypress trees stand out silhouetted against the hills of Jerusalem in the shadowy moonlight, just as they did when the angels proclaimed the birth of Him who wanted peace on earth, good will toward men.

But today in the Holy Land there is no peace on earth, good will toward men. Step by step, incident by incident, the Syrians along the Sea of Galilee where Christ walked have made it clear they want no peace.

The fishing season in the area, where Christ performed the miracle of the loaves and the fishes, has now started. And almost every week the Syrians open fire on Israeli fishermen or Israeli tractor drivers along the shore.

The Sea of Galilee is entirely Israeli. On the north shore, a 10-yard strip surrounds the sea, supposedly to keep Syrians away. But that makes no difference. Syrian snipers have squatted there, intermittently, for 10 years. In the south where Israeli territory broadens out and is wide enough for farming, there is also intermittent sniping.

President John F. Kennedy has taken Sen. Ted Kennedy aside and given him some brotherly advice—namely, to be seen and not heard in the new Senate. As a result Teddy will ask for a place on the Labor Committee, not the Foreign Relations Committee. This will put him squarely in the middle of the battle between his own church and the public schools over aid-to-education. Teddy will probably vote against his church. Some senators are a bit skeptical about having Senator Teddy Kennedy in the cloakrooms while they discuss strategy to block his big brother's program on the Senate floor. They figure there will be more leaks—to the White House, not the Saturday Evening Post. Pierre Salinger may not have been able to prevent news leaks from the National Security Council, but he's doing his best to prevent any leak regarding that transcribed squawking of a starling in distress, used to scare other starlings away from White House trees. However, I can reveal that it was obtained by catching a starling, holding it upside down and transcribing its cry of distress. The starling's squawk was not half as loud as that of irate businessmen when they learned they would have to get receipts for any entertainment expenses over $10—if they want income-tax deductions. Their squawking, heard all the way down Pennsylvania Avenue, has led to a revision.

Speaking of press censorship, the British foreign office has privately warned leading London newspapers to be less anti-American. Prime Minister Macmillan telephoned direct to President Kennedy to complain about criticism on the other side of the Atlantic—namely, that of Dean Acheson. The prime minister felt Dean's speech was a bit below the belt—especially considering the fact that Dean's mother, a Gooderham, was the daughter of a big Canadian whisky distiller.

European Third Force Hidden In Coming Anglo-U.S. Parley

WASHINGTON—The balmy Bahamas are providing the backdrop for what may go down in history as the most crucial talks that President Kennedy has yet held with another head of state.

The conference between JFK and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan comes at a time when a cloud no bigger than De Gaulle's nose is darkening our vital Anglo-American relations.

To cancel or not to cancel the Skybolt, on which Britain has based her nuclear deterrent, is only a storm warning of the rough seas that could lie ahead.

The future of our common defense, the trade which provides the life-line for our economy, and the course that our closest ally may take for the next several decades are at stake.

Concern is frankly felt in White House circles at rumors that French President Charles De Gaulle has served Macmillan with a subtle ultimatum.

The French strong-man now at the pinnacle of his power since the overwhelming vote of confidence in recent French elections, has reportedly offered the British premier his choice of two courses.

Macmillan can orient his nation toward Europe, and Farmers who have joined the Farm Bureau should look up history a little and see what they are heading for.

When World War I started, we were short of wheat. All the world was short of wheat. So we had speakers all over the country calling on farmers to raise more wheat. All were told that wheat would win the war. Farmers responded, plowed up hay land, bought more machinery and won the war. The government fixed the price at two dollars a bushel. The world price was over three dollars, but farmers didn't complain.

But when the war ended and the Republicans took over, they said that farm prices must come down. Treasury Secretary Andrew Mellon declared that raw materials must be cheap so that factories could compete with cheap foreign labor. Federal Reserve banks were instructed to refuse credit to farmers and force them to sell, while credit was advanced to all industry. All speculation was encouraged in other industries but farmers were forced out of business. And then what happened? Every other business stopped. But the Republicans did nothing about it. They just kept saying that prosperity was around the corner, that after a few years, farmers could start over again. But farmers and other businessmen couldn't wait. They stopped sales of Free world diplomats shudder to recall the last time that Britain and France acted in concert behind our backs. It was only six years ago that the two nations jointly bombed Egypt from the air, and then landed an invasion force during the Suez crisis.

Quick action by the United Nations and the U.S. effected their withdrawal, and the resultant embarrassment forced Sir Anthony Eden's resignation as prime minister, but many Britishers have never forgiven us.

DeGaulle's current wooing of his cross-channel neighbor comes at a strategic moment, when British anti-American feeling is at the boiling point over our plans to cancel the mutually conceived Skybolt project.

PIERRE J. HUSS

Hungarian Thaw A Phony

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.—The most irritating reminder to Premier Khrushchev in or out of UN is the blood-bath the Soviet army gave Hungary in 1956 and the fact that he has to maintain 80,000 crack combat troops in the country equipped with tanks and the most modern arms to prevent another revolt against communist rule.

This massive army is necessary also, as Khrushchev knows only too well, to keep his puppet jackal Janos Kadar alive and in control. All the lavish propaganda and the relaxing of Stalinist terror measures have failed to rub out in public and national memories the naked truth of Hungary today—it is still a nation occupied by Russian troops and illegally deprived of its fundamental sovereign rights and freedoms.

To whitewash the communist grip on Hungary, Khrushchev has ordered Kadar to loosen up on harsh measures wherever in the public domain it sugarcoats daily existence without touching the basic Moscow control tenets by which another uprising is prevented. This "second thaw," as it has been dubbed, has had the desired effect and has nourished the impression abroad that life in Hungary is comfortable and good. This gave rise in UN to the feeling that the annual examination of the Hungarian situation and renewal of a standing resolution demanding the withdrawal of Soviet troops and restoration of independence might conveniently be put on the shelf.

Slyly and skillfully the communist bloc urged the Afro-Asians to resist another Assembly debate. These Red agents at UN spiced their whisperings with the "inside" knowledge that the U.S. this year is washing its hands of the Hungarian question. That helped the communists considerably in undermining Assembly support for outspoken denunciation of the continued and tyrannical Moscow grip on Hungary.

A thorough and factual investigation and assessment of life in Hungary today exposes a skin-deep improvement chained beneath the surface to the same cruel factors that shackle all other captive nations behind the Iron Curtain. Aside from the less evident Soviet troops, the hated AVH (secret police) has been reconstituted to a point that— together with the regular police, the workers militia, the volunteer border guards and the newly expanded Hungarian peoples army—Khrushchev is in a position on short notice to suppress any rebellion with an iron hand. A top UN observer said on his return from Hungary:

"Khrushchev employs the carrot and stick policy. People are permitted to have some carrots—but not too many. They know that if they eat too many of if they eat something not listed in the government authorized political diet, a powerful and omnipresent stick will come down on them. For neither Khrushchev nor Kadar has forgotten that the Hungarian revolution was preceded by a 'thaw' which got out of hand. They do not intend to be caught by surprise again."

Soviet troops are disposed in the country in two "belts." The inner one forms an iron ring around Budapest and consists mainly of tank formations, supplemented by heavy artillery. This striking force can be deployed within two hours. The outer belt of Soviet troops known as the "Red Ring" is garrisoned in seven major centers of the nation, all troops being more or less on a warfooting ready to jump into action within the hour. The number of supersonic aircraft has been increased and the strategic missile base in the Trans-Danubian area has been extended through installation of ground-to-air missiles.

All talk of eventual withdrawal of Soviet troops has ceased. This was obviously encouraged and disseminated by Moscow agents in past years to assuage the outraged feelings in other lands which spread as the aftermath of the Soviet bloodbath.

The communist attitude toward religion remains unchanged, except that public persecution and arrests of the clergy have eased off. Atheistic propaganda and anti-religious brainwashing in every walk of Hungarian life, especially among the youth, has replaced the customary midnight knock on the door. But anyone boldly seeking religious instruction for children runs into endless obstruction. The child getting private instruction in religion encounters all sorts of difficulties in achieving good grades and companionship in public classes. The communist regime goes out of its way to discourage young people from studying for the priesthood, and sees to it that in the seminaries they are exposed to the despised "peace priests" in plain language the collaborators among the clergy.

Despite persistent rumors, there has been no general amnesty for those imprisoned after the revolution. Sir Leslie Munro, UN special representative on the question of Hungary, estimated in his official report to the Assembly that the number of those still in prison may be as high as 8,000 to 15,000. Some intellectuals and writers have been released, but the secret arrests and trials continue despite a new penal code and the air of relaxation.

Hungary on the whole remains poorer than it was before the war, but a stepped-up pace of industrialization has benefitted the average city dweller. It is in the outlying sections of big cities and smaller towns that the drab picture emerges. The housing is dilapidated and miserably short, the people are shabbily dressed, and in the early mornings there are the food queues. Complaints are not too loud, since the secret police and the family denouncer is still part and parcel of community life under the communists.

To say the least, Hungary remains an occupied land actually ruled by Khrushchev, and will remain captive as long as the Kremlin boss keeps a huge armed force there to impose his will on a people which never in a thousand years can be reconciled to becoming a Moscow colony.

Federal Reserve banks were instructed to refuse credit to farmers and force them to sell, while credit was advanced to all industry. All speculation was encouraged in other industries but farmers were forced out of business. And then what happened? Every other business stopped. But the Republicans did nothing about it. They just kept saying that prosperity was around the corner, that after a few years, farmers could start over again. But farmers and other businessmen couldn't wait. They stopped sales of farms, trucks were stopped on the highways and products dumped into ditches. Twenty-five-cent wheat was dumped into the streets. A revolution was starting. All the banks were closing.

The people called for a new deal. Roosevelt was elected. In four days, all banks were opened, a guarantee law was passed, a price of 45 cents a bushel was fixed on corn (it had been 14 cents), parity prices were established and supported, and all business revived.

Do Farm Bureau members want to live it over again? I joined them once but soon repented.

Mouthguards

York, Neb.

The Star's prep sports writer in a series on football players' equipment quoted a survey of prep coaches which indicates that 70% of them saw "no change" in dental injuries with mouthpieces. He went on to say that "some schools experimented with four or five different brands" and that "handling the mouthpiece represents a health hazard." The article was accompanied by a cartoon which illustrated a "coach-fitted" mouthguard.

National studies compiled in hundreds of schools over 10 years over the nation indicate 50% of all injuries are dental and that 95% are prevented with mouthguards and 5% "no change."

If a dentist were to assume a coaching role, he might easily have to experiment four or five times and still fail. Fitting protectors requires some special skills.

No one apparently asked the players what they thought about saving their teeth, so that they aren't put closer to that 50-50 "goal"—50% toothless at the age of 50, no health hazard.

No natural hazard need be involved if each player's mouthguard is marked and kept with his own gear.

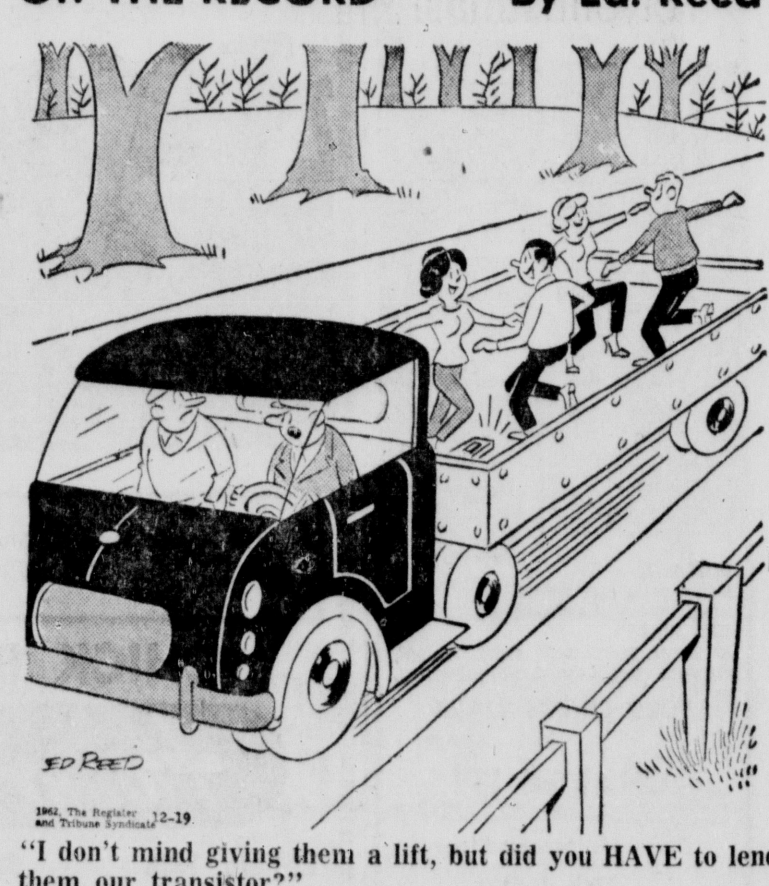

In Nebraska where properly made protectors were worn the past two years, most schools have reported no dental injuries. Materials new in 1962 have eliminated many problems in fitting, etc.

My thanks for a very fair and interesting presentation of this matter.

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplaine

Great replaying of those Humphrey Bogart films on TV these wintry nights. You know that "kiss is just a kiss" piano. And, "Play it, Sam. You played it for her, didn't you?" Which brings us to a report on the simple kiss.

Kissing can give you mononucleosis. Did you know that? True. If you should do a little under-the-mistletoe with some cupcake this Christmas, consider that.

Ten days later you are shaking like a crap shooter coming out.

Your fever is way up yonder. The medic is shaking his head gravely. And the children are at the bedside. (Reading the will.)

The chick was packing mononucleosis.

She gave it to you. Merry Christmas, sir, she said.

Before this was known, the poets spoke highly of the kiss. Webster's, which is no nonsense, has a definition: "A light, gentle touch, as of billiard balls in motion."

(Shows you where those editors misspent their youth.) The poets went on at some length about it.

"What is a kiss, when all is done?"

"A promise given under seal — a vow

"Taken before the shrine of memory —

"A signature acknowledged — a rosy dot

"Over the i of loving."

That would be a pretty way of saying it. Before you get your ration of mononucleosis.

The most recent report on kissing is political. It is hand-kissing which is very romantic. I think safer, too. Unless the girl has been licking her hands after fried chicken. Then it could be dangerous.

Hand-kissing has come back into favor in Poland. And a Vienna newspaper reports:

"Zoppot, the once fashionable seaside resort, has returned to Western manners again. It is a common sight to see a Polish man kissing his girl friend's hand."

This has alarmed the Iron Curtain countries.

Start kissing a lady's hand, she begins to think she's too good for the tractor factory.

Tractors are a girl's best friend. Polish girls should keep their minds on this.

In Spain, you do not kiss

VFW Will Give Honest Boy Reward

Overland Park, Kan. (UPI)—A check will be in the mail by the end of the week for a 14-year-old Milwaukee boy who "demonstrated honesty."

Steven Dalton, who found an $18,000 insurance company check on a Milwaukee Street last week and returned it for a $2 reward, will receive a check from Veterans of Foreign Wars post 846 in Overland Park, Kan.

Jess Thompson, post commander, said that members of the post have contributed to a fund for the Dalton boy and the money will be mailed to him before Christmas.

When informed of the Post's action, Mrs. Marjorie Dalton said her son's long ambition might finally be fulfilled. Steven, who will enter Lincoln High School next year, has wanted to try out for the school band, but didn't have an instrument.

"Steven will be so surprised," Mrs. Dalton said. "He's been wanting a saxophone and maybe this will take care of the down payment."

Steven is the oldest of 7 Dalton children and is in the eighth grade.

I only mention this because we got the mistletoe the other day. It is very romantic to have a sprig of this around the scatter on Christmas.

I didn't get it for myself. I could stand under the mistletoe until snow fell in July. Nothing happens except maybe somebody says: "Anything wrong? You've been standing there for an hour."

No, I got it for my daughter. I want her to have all opportunities for romance.

Furthermore, I have kissed this child since she was a tot. Never got anything.

Kaiser Pact Noble Effort

... TO SOLVE PROBLEMS

Washington (AP) — The remarkable new Kaiser Steel Co. labor pact is a noble effort toward solving at a single stroke the most perplexing labor-management problems of the times.

It probably will have some bugs in it that will need revising. But it surely stands as a showpiece of what a willing management and a willing labor union — in this case the AFL-CIO steelworkers — can do in tackling mutual problems.

In broad terms, the agreement seeks to: (1) reward workers along with management for production success, (2) guarantee employees against losing jobs to machines, (3) eliminate the main cause of strikes, and (4) accomplish all this by enhancing rather than damaging the employer's financial position.

Significant
Prof. George W. Taylor of the University of Pennsylvania, chairman of the advisory committee that came up with the plan after a 3-year study, called it "a significant breakthrough in the field of labor-management relations."

The agreement, announced Monday night at Fontana, Calif., was hailed by high government officials.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz said it was evidence that "by serving a mutual interest individual interests can be served." Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges said it represents "the kind of thinking we need to do in this area."

The chief feature is that a new labor-management teamwork incentive has been created through an agreement to share cost savings. Nearly one-third of such savings is to be distributed monthly among workers as a bonus, with the rest going to the company.

About half the company share would go to taxes, thus benefiting the public to that extent. And of course part of the workers' bonus would go into income taxes.

Edgar Kaiser, head of the steel firm, said the net result will be higher wages but lower unit production costs. He added:

"The minimum for Kaiser workers will be the rate set by the big steel contracts with the union, but if this plan doesn't produce a lot more for our workers then it just will not be successful."

Almost Automatic
The planners figure that the worker stake in operating the most economical and efficient level of production will lead almost automatically to even eager acceptance of automation and elimination of unnecessary employees or work practices.

That is where an important second part of the pact comes into play. Workers whose jobs become obsolete can be assigned or trained to other tasks but their income will continue at the same level. This is not regarded as so heavy a management cost item as might appear because normal turnover due to deaths, retirements and quits exceeds automation job losses.

Finally, Kaiser has agreed simply to accept whatever wage levels are set by the rest of the steel industry and pay the cost-sharing bonus on top of it. The Taylor committee says this acceptance of industry pay levels will "do away with contract deadlines with respect to economic issues, contributing greatly to industrial peace."

The Taylor group believes the cost savings sharing plan is a better incentive system than profit-sharing. The worker can do something about cutting costs. But he has little or no say over sales, research, management, expansion or similar policies that are the employer's province.

Corn Per Acre Far Ups High

The Nebraska corn crop this year shattered by a wide margin the previous record per-acre yield, the U.S. Department of Agriculture said Tuesday.

The statisticians said the crop averaged 61 bushels an acre—up 9 bushels from the previous high set last year. Total corn production for Nebraska was estimated at 313,357,000, up slightly from the 302,760,000 predicted a month ago.

A. V. Nordquist, head of the state-federal division of agricultural statistics, said it marked the third time the state has gone past the 300 million bushel mark. The largest production came in 1960 with 333,438,000 bushels. The second largest was 1959's 318,063,000.

"We've had very favorable weather this fall," Nordquist said. "Heavy application of fertilizer helped boost the crop and losses were unusually light. We had real good crops in the major corn producing areas in the east and in the irrigated sections."

The 1962 winter wheat crop was estimated at 53,357,000 bushels, up very slightly from a year ago.

Nordquist said the wheat averaged only 19.5 bushels per acre, compared with a longtime average of 24.3.

This year's crop was the smallest since 1944. Nordquist said the main reason for the sharp dropoff was a severe black stem rust problem, which he described as "one of the worst infections the state has ever experienced."

Last year Nebraska produced 78,620,000 bushels of winter wheat.

13-Year-Old Trio Grilled In Phony Dime Switches

Three 13-year-old Lincoln boys were questioned by police and released to their parents Tuesday night after 3 phony rolls of dimes were exchanged for currency at the Serraval Super Market, 3308 A.

The phony rolls contained pieces of weighted aluminum pipe cut to size with dimes on each end, according to Detective Lt. Merl Hesser.

Lt. Hesser said one boy had paid each of the other two youths $1 to pass the "phonies" for him, including among them a 4th roll which did actually contain $5 in dimes.

Hesser said the two boys paid to pass the rolls apparently had no knowledge that they were not real. He said: "When we learned of the

The two tests were the 33rd and 34th that have been announced by the AEC in the current Russian series.

The last previous test was on Nov. 17.

NU, 3 Companies To Do Beet Probe

Representatives of 3 sugar companies and the University of Nebraska made plans in Lincoln Tuesday to conduct cooperative research and extension activity aimed at increasing the yield, quality and sugar content of sugar beets grown in Nebraska.

Those attending felt that top priority should be placed on finding more effective ways of controlling weeds and diseases of sugar beets.

The matter of soil fertility and soil tests also will be considered. The meeting was called by Dean E. F. Frolik of the College of Agriculture as a means of improving sugar beet production in Nebraska.

Dr. H. H. Kramer, director of the university's Agricultural Experiment Station, said, "I believe our scientists can make a contribution in basic studies to solve some of these problems in cooperation with the sugar companies. Once these findings are obtained, the various companies in cooperation with county extension agents can apply these findings in local areas where sugar beets are grown. Research facilities at the agricultural field laboratory at Mead as well as the North Platte and Scottsbluff experiment stations will aid in the research program."

Clyde Noyes, state leader of program in the university's Extension Service, explained that the extension program is planned and carried out locally. Therefore, county agents and sugar beet company field men can work closely in applying research findings, he said. It was observed that much is known about sugar beet production that is not being used.

The companies which agreed to the research program are the American Crystal Co., the Great Western Sugar Co. and the Utah-Idaho Sugar Co.

L. B. Garner of Sterling, Colo., representing Great Western, said hardly a week goes by but that someone asks about obtaining another sugar beet processing plant in Nebraska. "But some of the basic problems of low sugar content and yield and diseases and weed control must be solved before it will be feasible to build more plants in the state," he said.

Deny N.Y. Playboy Club License

New York (UPI) — The Playboy Club in Midtown Manhattan was denied a cabaret license Tuesday by City License Commissioner Bernard J. O'Connell because the club "would not be in the public interest."

In a statement denying the application, O'Connell said, "it would appear that this applicant's main appeal to its prospective customers is the lure of its scantily clad waitresses."

The club already has been granted a liquor license by the state liquor authority. Tuesday's ruling by O'Connell means that the club may not have any entertainment or dancing.

Playboy clubs already are in existence in Chicago and several other cities. They feature "bunnies," well-endowed young ladies clad in brief bunny costumes and black net stockings. The clubs derive their name from Playboy magazine, which is published by Hugh M. Hefner, who also owns the clubs.

O'Connell said in his statement that the bunnies are "concededly very scantily clad, but the impression is created by the club's publicity releases, truly or falsely, that they are available to twist with club members at private parties."

O'Connell termed this promise "a fraud and a delusion" since the operators of the club have agreed as a condition of their liquor license that every member of the public must be admitted on the same terms.

"A mere glance at the magazine in question, would indicate that any approximation of its 'mood' in a cabaret would invite immediate police action," O'Connell said.

No Contact Rule

O'Connell noted that far from permitting twisting between the waitresses and the guests, the club admitted that it had hired private detectives to insure that there is no contact between the two.

"The policy of New York City, in the licensing of cabarets, has always forbidden any mingling between customers and employees or entertainers," he said.

The commissioner concluded: "I must agree with the determination of the hearing commissioner — that to license this innovation would not be in the public interest. The application is denied."

12 Parkers Get Snowy Tickets

Assistant Police Chief Orren Graves said 12 parking violation tickets were issued early Tuesday morning, the first day violation tickets rather than warnings went to people who had parked their cars illegally according to the rules set down by the snow removal ordinance.

Graves pointed out this is not the kickoff of a drive to see how many tickets can be issued, but the start of a program to insure the removing of snow from Lincoln streets with the least amount of difficulty.

Graves urges people to cooperate with the ordinance.

GAINS DIVORCE

Mrs. Deborah Power Loew sits in a Los Angeles superior courtroom Tuesday before divorcing movie executive Arthur M. Loew, Jr., who she testified didn't want to be married because it "tied him down." She is the widow of actor Tyrone Power.

U.N. Renews Attack On Red Hungary Revolt Intervention

United Nations, N.Y. (UPI) — The General Assembly's Special Political Committee Tuesday night renewed U.N. condemnation of Hungary and Russia for suppression of the 1956 freedom revolt. The vote was 43-14 with 32 abstentions.

A resolution sponsored by the United States reaffirmed earlier assembly action on the Hungarian question.

It also asked Secretary General Thant to "take any initiative that he deems helpful" to restore fundamental human rights to Hungary, and it discontinued the post of Sir Leslie Munro of New Zealand as special U. N. representative on the Hungarian question.

Some delegates considered the resolution milder than those approved by the assembly annually since 1956. Chinese delegate C. M. Chang, who abstained in the vote, said he feared it might be the forerunner of the disappearance of the Hungarian issue from the assembly agenda.

The 10-nation Soviet Bloc, nea opposed the resolution Yugoslavia, Ghana and Guin which carried with more than the two-thirds majority required for its final passage in the General Assembly.

Closest margin in the voting came in a divisional vote in which a paragraph "noting with concern" the refusal of Hungary and Russia to cooperate with the U.N. representative was approved by a 42-18 vote, with 29 abstentions.

Transit 5A Is New Guiding Star

... SHOT BY SCOUT ROCKET IS SPECTACULAR

Point Arguello, Calif. (AP) — Creating a spectacular glow seen from San Francisco to San Diego, a Scout rocket shot aloft Tuesday carrying a satellite designed to become a new guiding star for ships and submarines.

The brilliance of the solid fuel rocket's contrail, was attributed to atmospheric conditions. Heavy fog was rolling in along the coast at the time of the 5:26 p.m. launching, and moisture in the air caused the formation of a giant circle of light in the sky.

The satellite atop the rocket, called Transit 5A, was scheduled to be the first of a network of 4 which by the end of 1963 should give ocean vessels anywhere in the world a quick fix on their positions in any kind of weather.

This information will be of vital importance to Polaris-type submarines which must know their position precisely before missiles can be launched.

Current methods of navigation by the stars require clear skies.

Transit 5A's 4-stage solid fuel Scout booster was aimed south toward an orbit around the earth's poles.

Observers at first thought the rocket had exploded as it bent southward over the ocean. However, a spokesman called the launching a complete success.

At 8 p.m. PST, the spokesman said tracking stations confirmed at 7 p.m. PST that Transit 5A had gone into orbit. He said radio signals from the satellite were coming in strong.

As the satellite rose into the sky, light from the sun below the horizon turned the rocket's contrail into beautiful shades of white, green and rose. Winds quickly distorted the rocket's exhaust into a series of rings.

Switchboards in Los Angeles and many other cities were flooded with calls after the glow tinted the skies.

In San Francisco, what apparently was one of the stages of the rocket appeared as a fireball in the sky just as thousands of commuters were going home.

It burst after putting on a 3-minute show, reappeared, and then vanished, leaving a whirling, snake-like trail. The show was seen by thousands as far south as Fresno, as far north as Vallejo, and as far east as Placerville—an area roughly 250 by 150 miles in extent.

An Air Force spokesman said the aerial display occurred during ignition and burning of the rocket's third stage at an altitude of about 330,000 feet.

In Polar orbit, a network of 4 satellites would be able to beam position-fixing signals to any point on the revolving earth once every two hours.

Seven previous Transit satellites, two of which are still operating, were launched from Cape Canaveral, Fla. These were test vehicles and not designed to be operational aids to navigation.

Plans call for the solar-powered Transit 5A to broadcast its position every two minutes. A ship or submarine receiving the information would measure the distance to the satellite by radar and from this compute its own position at sea.

Execution Set For 2 Killers

Topeka, Kan. (UPI) — The Kansas Supreme Court Tuesday set Jan. 31 as the execution date for two former soldiers convicted of the 1962 slaying of Otto E. Ziegler, 62, of Oakley, Kan.

The condemned men, James Douglas Latham of Mauriceville, Tex., and George Ronald York of Jacksonville, Fla., have admitted killing 7 persons in 5 states on a cross-country crime spree in the spring of 1961.

The two former soldiers were convicted Nov. 7, 1961, in district court at Russell.

The State Supreme Court, which denied a rehearing last week, decreed Tuesday that York and Latham, now on death row at the Kansas State Penitentiary at Lansing, should be hanged between 12:01 a.m. and 2 a.m. on Jan. 31.

Farmers Want Unity, Parity

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

A plea for farm group unity and 100% of parity support prices on feed grains was made Tuesday at Pershing Auditorium by more than 100 farmers who met with government and farm organization leaders.

The meeting originated by several Burt County farmers resulted in a resolution asking Gov. Frank Morrison to convey their requests to Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman.

Morris Swedberg of Craig, a program planner, said, "The 22 farm sale bills hanging in a recreation parlor at Tekamah today are not because of poor crops but because farmers are not receiving parity for their crops."

Farm Bureau Hit
While near unity was voiced by various farm groups attending, one organization, the American Farm Bureau, was singled out.

Applause followed Swedberg's remark that "Shuman (Farm Bureau president) doesn't speak for the farmers he represents."

Morrison challenged the thought that "we do not need a farm program." He invited anybody who thinks so to recall the chaos of the 1930s.

Hans Jensen, northwest area director for Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, said, "The farmer only wants a protective price shield to live under, something to balance the guide in prices that is used by practically every industry under a regulated economy."

Everybody Else
Morrison reminded the farmers that every other nation has an agricultural program and that the European Common Market countries are giving prime importance to providing adequate income to the farm population.

Agriculture income was tabbed as the number one problem by Dr. Everett Peterson, extension economist, University of Nebraska College of Agriculture.

Peterson told the group that overproduction in livestock has been prevented by the feed grains program but that agriculture was getting less net income today than 15 years ago.

Freeman's recent boosting of support prices on feed grains was termed a "first" by Charles Broderson, state ASCS committeeman.

Benefits of the 1963 feed grains program were explained by Ralph Cole of Lincoln, a member of Freeman's agricultural advisory board.

20% To Comply
Cole predicted that most farmers would elect to take only 20% out of production to comply with the 1963 feed grains program.

"If the program is properly explained and publicized the government will get more people signed up for 1963 than we had this year," said Cole.

Jensen told the farmers the first goal was to secure passage of the 1963 wheat referendum vote.

"If the wheat referendum would fail to pass it could be a threat to our total farm economy," said Jensen.

Elton Berck of Lincoln, state Farmers Union president, said there are many who would let wheat prices drop to 50% of parity and unlimited acreage, but his organization considers such a route as one that would cut farmers' throats and harm the entire economy.

Petroleum Protein
He warned farmers the petroleum industry has now found a way to secure protein from petroleum and that agriculture must be on constant guard for the traditional markets of the farmer.

"Federal farm legislation is necessary if farmers are to secure equitable income with other groups," said Berck.

The Farm Bureau came in for further criticism for not supporting the wheat referendum and for announced plans to fight the vote.

A program spokesman told the farmers that the reason for this route by the Farm Bureau was because it "represents the processor, packer, miller and others who prosper in a boom and bust economy rather than the farmer."

300 Northeast Singers Fold With Bleacher

Christmas vesper services at Northeast High School were temporarily interrupted Tuesday morning when a bleacher-type riser folded under 300 singers.

Principal Harland Taylor said the students suffered only some bumps, bruises, scrapes and a couple of minor cuts.

The most serious injury, Taylor said, was a knee laceration suffered by one girl. He said doctors checked the students and he thought all of the ones involved were in school Tuesday afternoon.

"Luck was with us; it was just a miracle," he said.

The structure did not collapse, but folded to one side when the choral groups sat down. This was the reason there were no serious injuries, he said.

After the young musicians picked themselves up and discovered no one was seriously hurt, they went on with the show.

Anderson's Road Building Bid Low

The State Department of Roads Tuesday announced that M. W. Anderson Construction Co., Inc., Lincoln, submitted the apparent low bid for the general contract to construct a traffic engineering building in Lincoln.

The bid was $104,787.

The services building will be located on the department's lot south of the State Penitentiary.

Other apparent low bidders for the project:

— Plumbing and heating contract, Reinhardt Brothers, Inc., Lincoln $26,542.

— Electrical contract, Gregg Electric Co., Lincoln, $17,918.

— Overhead primary power-line contract, ABC Electric Co., Inc., Lincoln, $5,951.

Morrison Keeps Donahue, Divis

Gov. Frank Morrison reported Tuesday he has reappointed State Fire Marshal Joseph Divis and State Athletic Commissioner James Donahue.

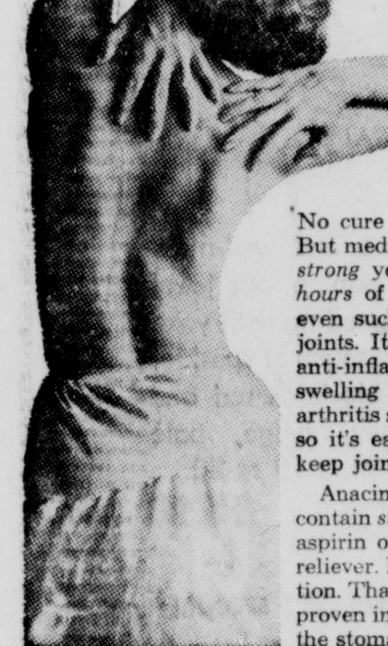

Divis, former Saunders County sheriff, was first named fire marshal by the late Democratic Gov. Ralph Brooks in 1959. Morrison, also a Democrat, kept Divis on when he became governor in 1961.

Morrison appointed Donahue during his first term of office. The athletic commissioner from Omaha, is a graduate of Creighton University.

Strong Yet Safe—Gives Hours of Continuous Relief from Minor ARTHRITIS PAINS

Reduces swelling and inflammation so it's easier to move afflicted limbs again

No cure as yet has been found for arthritis. But medical research has established that the strong yet safe medication in Anacin® gives hours of relief from arthritis' minor pains—even such chronic pain arising from deep in joints. It has also been found Anacin has an anti-inflammatory action that helps reduce swelling and inflammation—a basic cause of arthritis suffering. In minutes—pain is relieved so it's easier to move around and this helps keep joints from 'locking' or 'stiffening.'

Anacin Tablets are so effective because they contain strong yet safe medication. Remember, aspirin or buffered aspirin has only one pain reliever. But Anacin is like a doctor's prescription. That is, a combination of three medically proven ingredients. And Anacin does not upset the stomach. Take as directed.

Betrothal Revealed

An announcement of interest is made this morning by Mr. and Mrs. James H. Birney of Omaha who reveal the betrothal of their daughter, Patricia Ann, to Stephen M. Joynt, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Russell Joynt of Lincoln.

Miss Birney is a junior at the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority. Mr. Joynt is a senior at the University of Nebraska and is a member of Delta Tau Delta fraternity of which he is serving as president. He also is a member of Innocents, honor society for senior men; Kappa Club and Pi Sigma Alpha honorary.

Brides Book

A most popular and busy bride-elect the past few weeks preceding her Dec. 26 wedding is Miss Marilyn Davey, whose approaching marriage to Richard R. Dewey has been the incentive for many prenuptial courtesies.

On Thursday evening, the bride-to-be will be honored at a party to be given by Mrs. Lanny Orpen and Mrs. Gerry Bush. The guests have been invited to the home of Mrs. Bush for an informal evening during which a hostess-gift will be presented to Miss Davey.

Miss Davey will share honors with her fiancé on Sunday when the bride-elect's uncles and aunts, Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Srb, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Davey, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davey will entertain at a family dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Davey. A one-gift shower will be presented to the honored couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest C. Dewey will entertain in courtesy to their son and Miss Davey on Sunday when they will be host and hostess at a prenuptial dinner to be held at the Hotel Cornhusker. The guest list will include members of the family and bridal party.

Other recent courtesies honoring Miss Davey include the personal shower for which Miss Judy Means was hostess to Alpha Phi sorority sisters of the honoree, and the dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Boswell and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace De Brown at the Lincoln Country Club, at which the bride-elect shared honors with her fiancé.

The couple also were honored at a 5:30 o'clock to 7:30 o'clock party for which Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hall and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Thompson were hosts and hostesses at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hall.

Another popular bride-to-be of the holiday season who, with her fiancé, will be honored on Friday evening is Miss Sharon Witt who will become the bride of Tad Dunham on Saturday, Dec. 22.

Miss Witt and Mr. Dunham will have honors on Friday evening at a prenuptial dinner for which Mr. Dunham's parents, Mr. and Mrs.

Gene Dunham will be host and hostess at the Hotel Cornhusker. The dinner, which will follow the wedding rehearsal at Trinity Methodist Church, will be attended by members of the family and bridal party.

The soon-to-be bride was hostess last Sunday afternoon when she entertained the feminine members of her bridal party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred T. Witt.

Miss Emmagene Dunham will attend Miss Witt as maid of honor, and her bridesmaid will be Miss Vicki Cullen. The bridesmatrons will be Mrs. Ted Goike and Mrs. Jim Hennessey and lighting the candles for the 7:30 o'clock service will be Miss Sally Copple and Miss Carol Hodges.

Bob Gettman will serve Mr. Dunham as best man, and the corps of ushers will include David McMullen, Jim Hennessey, Ted Goike, George Witt and Richard Curry.

Miss Marilyn Miller, whose marriage to Richard S. Wood will be an event of Sunday, Dec. 23, was the honoree last Friday evening at a miscellaneous shower held at the home of Mr. Ervin Greenwald. Co-hostesses with Mrs. Greenwald were Mrs. Ed Moss and Mrs. Paul Hart.

Also honoring the holiday bride-elect recently were the officers of the University of Nebraska Towne Club of which Miss Miller is president. The party was held in the parlors of St. Mark's Methodist Church, and during the evening, a miscellaneous shower was presented to Miss Miller.

For her wedding, which will take place at 2 o'clock at Epworth Methodist Church, Miss Miller has named Mrs. Clyde E. Miller, Jr., of Richardson, Tex., as her matron of honor. Her bridesmaids will be her sister, Miss Elizabeth Miller, and Mrs. Duane Owings of Independence, Mo., and lighting the chancel candles will be Miss Beth Dering and Miss Marilyn Winter.

Richard Sheehan will serve Mr. Wood as best man, and seating the guests will be Arthur Patrick of Omaha, and William Tubbs of Kansas City, Mo.

We're true to our promise of yesterday — more of everything in the way of news. If we hurry we may be able to tell you about Christmas guests and Christmas travelers, but at this moment we have brides — elect and potential bridegrooms to mention.

Let's go back to a family dinner for which Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Stuart were host and hostess when they entertained at the Lincoln Country Club in prenuptial courtesy to their nephew, James Stuart, Jr., and his fiancée, Miss Leah Smith, whose marriage will take place on Dec. 29 — and let's also go back to the Sunday morning brunch for which Mr. and Mrs. George Bastian were host and hostess, also at the Lincoln Country Club, and also for Miss Smith and Mr. Stuart — and back to the dinner at which Mr. and Mrs. William Edwards presided at their home, complimenting Miss

Smith and Mr. Stuart.

On the mid-week courtesy list for Miss Smith and Mr. Stuart is a party this evening. We hear that Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Weaver, Jr., will honor the soon-to-be bride and Mr. Stuart at dinner this evening at their home.

FUN NEWS IN SUBURBIA

NORTHEAST HEIGHTS

Days are shorter, nights are longer, Christmas is nearer, and people are busier in Suburbia!

In Northeast Heights this week two Girl Scout troops have been festively taking note of the approaching holiday. Both parties, one at the Edwin Wilson home and the other at the Wayne Bates home, were on Monday evening.

At the Wilson home, 14 10-year-olds from Troop 298 gathered for their Christmas celebration. First the young ladies went carolling at Whitehall and then they returned to the Wilson household for a gift exchange and refreshments.

Assisting Mrs. Wilson in the hosting role was the other Troop leader, Mrs. Harold Staberg.

And the other Monday party was an evening tea for the 13 and 14-year-olds in Troop 146. Eighteen of the troop members donned their Christmas finery, including several pairs of their first high heels, for the occasion.

In addition to the girls, the troop leaders, Mrs. Everett Walker, Mrs. Robert Fleming, and Mrs. Dana Baird, also were guests for the holiday affair.

Arriving in Northeast Heights today for the holidays will be Robert Maxwell Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Maxwell. Bob Jr. is coming from St. Paul, Minn., where he is a freshman at the St. Paul Bible College. He will be with his parents and sister and brother, Wendy and Randy, until early in January.

And leaving on Saturday are Mr. and Mrs. Elmer P. Cederdahl who will be headed for Cincinnati, Ohio to visit their son and daughter-in-law and their family, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Cederdahl and Linda, Larry, Jimmy, and Joan.

Mr. and Mrs. Cederdahl aren't the only Lincoln residents to be hosted by the Cincinnati family, for Mr. and Mrs. Cederdahl will be joined for the trip by several other family members.

Others making the trip will be two of Mr. and Mrs. Cederdahl's daughters and families, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Trook, and Mrs. Barbara Powell and her children, Dottie and Roger.

Another branch of the Trook family going to Cincinnati is Mr. and Mrs. Trook's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Grabenstein.

Some Christmas morning entertaining is slated at the Robert A. Brehm household. Mr. and Mrs. Brehm, with the help of their children, Laurie, Robert Carl, Lisa Marie, and Lynne Louise, will be hosting several members of their families at a Christmas breakfast at their home.

Guests will include Mr. Brehm's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert A. Brehm; Mrs. Brehm's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Bodensteiner; her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Bodensteiner and Michael; an uncle, George Bodensteiner, and grandmother, Mrs. C. W. Bodensteiner.

COTNER TERRACE

Moving on to the approaching weekend we can tell you about many persons coming and going in Cotner Terrace.

On Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. George Hudzicki and their daughter, Mary, will be welcoming Mrs. Hudzicki's father, Will Faulstick. Mr. Faulstick is coming from his home in Norfolk to spend Christmas, plus about five days, with Mr. and Mrs. Hudzicki and with another daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Myhre and Maureen.

Expected at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dean M. Nelson sometime this weekend are their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Nelson. Mr. and Mrs. Nelson will be coming from Reese Air Force Base in Lubbock, Tex. to spend two weeks with Mr. Nelson's parents and brother, James.

We told you about the Northeast Heights Girl Scout troop that participated in the carol sing at Whitehall on Monday evening, and we hear that several of the Cotner Terrace Brownie troops also took part in the event. We couldn't run down any particular parties scheduled for the girls afterwards, but would imagine that they, too, were celebrating the holidays.

Hosting an open house last Sunday in honor of a very special occasion were Mr. and Mrs. William E. Williams. The affair honored G. C. Albaugh who is retiring from his position as head usher at First Methodist Church after serving as an usher for 20 years.

Guests at the afternoon affair were the ushers and wives and the church staff from First Methodist.

We are told that Miss Smith leaves on Friday for her home in Sioux Falls, S.D., but we learned that for Mr. Stuart a stag party has been planned for Wednesday evening Dec. 26.

The host will be Cadet Robert Hillier who will be arriving home on Saturday from the United States Military Academy at West Point, N.Y. where he is in his junior year. The guest list will include a group of old school friends.

We find that we have many more parties to add to the long list of courtesies for Miss Karen Costin and her fiancé, Joseph Williams who, as you already know, have chosen Dec. 29 as the date of their wedding.

Honoring Miss Costin and Mr. Williams next Sunday will be Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Sowles and their son-in-law and daughter, Lt. and Mrs. David Calhoun who will entertain at brunch at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sowles. Mr. Williams, so we hear, will be presented with a miscellaneous shower.

The young set is looking forward to Friday, Dec. 21 — Not only is that the first day of vacation, but there also is something to do. The Lincoln Community Playhouse Children's Theater is presenting "Mr. Bunch's Toys" (this one for the very young) and the Dickens "Christmas Carol" which should appeal to all ages. Anyway the afternoon performance begins at 1:30 o'clock, and 7:30 o'clock is curtain time Friday evening. Mrs. William E. Hall is the director, and we're sure that everyone knows that Mrs. Hall is the sister of Vivian Vance of "The Lucy Show" fame.

Right now we think we should mention guests who will be arriving for the holidays — One of these is Miss Mary Helen Mallory who will fly in from Boston on Friday who will be the house guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Robert Mallory until Dec. 29.

The Sunday preceding Christmas — Dec. 23 — will find Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Dale and their two children, Meg and Bobby, arriving at the home of Mrs. Dale's parents — Mr. and Mrs. Mallory — Mr. and Mrs. Dale and their children will remain until after Christmas.

And on Christmas day Mr. and Mrs. Mallory will have other guests — Mr. Mallory's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Deane Mallory of Omaha.

Beauty and the Bosom

If you've been trying on new clothes lately, you know—the subtle young look is in! Your figure should boast a hand-span waist, a young girlish bosom with softly rounded contours, for today's simple, smashing "jeune fille" look.

And the idea of weightlessness is in, too. Fashions pared down to unfussy lines of beauty demand under-fashions of wisp-weight and sleek smoothness.

A unique new concept in bras answers both fashion and comfort demands with one word—"MagiCloud." MagiCloud is a bra cup lining made of science's newest fibers, and ingeniously engineered to achieve fashion's soft rounded outlines with secure support and weightless comfort. It is found only in brassieres designed by Charmfit.

What happens when you wear a Charmfit MagiCloud bra? It shapes, but softly—not stiffly as in contoured bras. It supports and rounds, but without heavy seams showing thru. In fact, its seams are almost invisible; but, unlike molded bras, they give needed extra support.

If your figure is a little "minus," the MagiCloud lining fills it in without padding. If your figure is a little "plus," MagiCloud compresses to round out curves without "adding" to your size.

And this new construction is so light that a bandeau bra weighs less than an ounce. For many women, MagiCloud Charmfit bras are the most comfortable they've ever worn. They are available in short and long-line bandeaux, decollete low-cut, strapless, and torsolette styles at

Dear Abby

They Can Always Say 'No'

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What is your opinion of office parties with no husbands or wives invited?

My husband works for a well-known firm and they throw two big parties a year. He just returned home (it is 3:30 a.m.) smelling strongly of perfume and he is far from sober. He has lipstick all over his necktie (even under the knot!) and his white shirt is covered with make-up.

I have informed him that if he goes to the forthcoming Christmas party I am leaving him for good. And I mean it! Please print this letter, Abby, with your remarks. I believe parties like these are the cause of many divorces.

MRS. X.

DEAR MRS. X.: As a gesture of gratitude to valued employees, firms should either invite the spouse or, in the true holiday spirit, give each employee a ham or a turkey or something the entire family can enjoy. To invite married men (and women) without their mates to drink, dance and make merry is courting trouble. However, those who want to decline the invitation can do so.

Good dummy play is nothing more than a logical process by which the declarer obtains the tricks he is entitled to. A fine declarer makes use of every possible clue, whether gained from the bidding or play, to attain his objective.

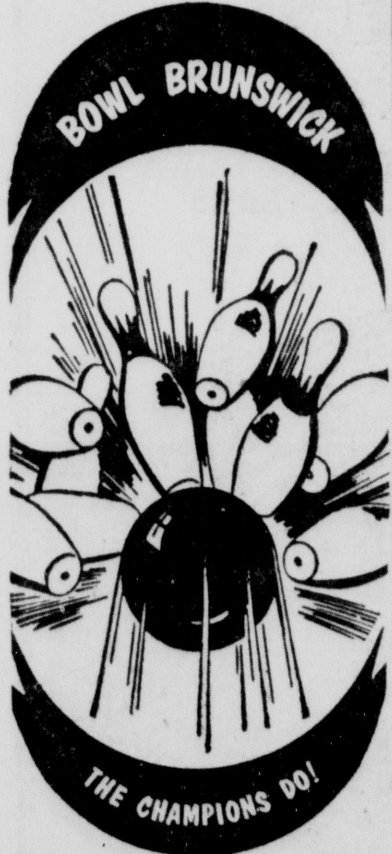

Look at this hand, for example, where declarer must function perfectly if he is to make the contract. West leads the nine of clubs.

There is no reason for South to assume that West has not led his highest club. This means that East has the A-J and there is a danger of losing two club tricks unless steps are taken to prevent it.

Declarer cannot afford to play low from dummy, because East might also play low and thus be in position to win two club tricks later. Nor can declarer solve this problem by playing the ten from dummy, because East would cover with the jack to attain the same position.

South therefore plays the queen from dummy to resist the attack on his most

Why Grow Old?

Prefer Blondes, Marry Brunettes

Josephine Lowman

Someone once said that gentlemen prefer blondes but marry brunettes. Don't let that worry your little head! Today, hair coloring has become such a precise art that a woman need no longer fear that she will look as though she fell into a coal bin headfirst, or stuck her head into a can of red paint, if she decides to tint her hair. She can have the color she, or the man in her life, prefers. AND, remember that there has been a big swing in recent years toward brunettes.

DEAR ABBY: Do you know if a cow has to have a calf first in order to give milk or can she produce milk before she has a calf?

ROSE, TESS, MARCIA AND HELEN

DEAR R., T., M. AND H.: Yes, a cow must "calf" first in order to give milk.

CONFIDENTIAL TO FORT WORTH: True, "Beauty is only skin deep," but if a girl is poor and a little on the stupid side, she's lucky to have it!

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Fashions in hair styling and coloring change from time to time, but glossy healthy hair is the necessary ingredient for glorified tresses.

We sometimes forget that our hair is a living part of our body and that our emotions, the food we eat, the exercise we take and our general life habits affect it. Adequate amounts of vitamins and minerals, fine health and general exercise are reflected in its beauty. Poor health habits and malnutrition lead to dull mousy locks.

The average head has about one hundred and twenty-five thousand hairs. Each hair has its follicle and root below the surface and its shaft above the skin. The size of the hair (its coarseness or fineness) varies greatly with the individual.

Sometimes an anesthetic will cause the hair to fall out to a greater-than-normal degree. Some shedding, is normal, but heavy hair "fall-out" is a temporary condition. The hair will return to its normal thickness.

Prolonged emotional strain can cause certain types of baldness. The hair usually grows back when the strain is relieved.

Besides proper nutrition and cleanliness, give your hair an extra bonus by stirring up circulation in the scalp with daily massage.

Six NU Journalism Students Receive Gold Key Awards

Six University of Nebraska journalism students were announced Tuesday afternoon as recipients of Gold Keys for high scholastic achievements. The Gold Key awards, given annually by the Lincoln Journal and Lincoln Star, were presented by the School of Journalism by Joe R. Seacrest, managing editor of the Lincoln Journal. The awards are in recognition of high scholarship in the student's first year in the Journalism School.

The honored students, all sophomores, are:

Jane Miller of Scottsbluff, enrolled in the College of Arts and Sciences, with an 8.545 accumulative grade average last year (9 is perfect). She is a member of Delta Gamma social sorority, Coed Counselors, All-Campus publications, and Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman scholarship honorary for women. She had served as associate editor and copy editor of her high school paper.

Brenda Blankenbeckler of Tekamah, enrolled in Teachers College, who earned a 7.625 average. She is a member of Alpha Lambda Delta, Alpha Chi Omega social sorority, Nebraska Union, and YWCA. She was section editor of her high school yearbook and class salutatorian.

Carol Jaeger of Imperial, enrolled in the College of Arts and Sciences, who has a 7.069 average. She is a member of All-Campus Publications, Orchestras, and Kappa Delta social sorority. She was editor of her high school paper and class salutatorian.

Linda Kimmel of Omaha, enrolled in College of Arts and Sciences, who has a 7.069 average. The recipient of a Lincoln Star freshman scholarship, she is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta social sorority, Builders, Nebraska Union, and Associated Women Students. She was graduated from Omaha Westside, where she was editor of The Lance and president of the Student Council.

Grant Peterson of Gothenburg, enrolled in the College of Arts and Sciences, who has a 6.655 average. He is a member of the University Band and the Wesley Chapel Choir. At Gothenburg, he was sports editor of the yearbook.

Susan Smithberger of Stanton, enrolled in the College of Agriculture, who has a 6.613 average. A Regents scholarship recipient, she is a member of Ag Student Union, Wesley Foundation, and Kappa Kappa Gamma social sorority. At Stanton, she was editor of the Hillside Echoes and district president of the Methodist Youth Fellowship.

No Opposition Reported At Hearing On Hastings Bank

There was no opposition at a public hearing held here Tuesday on an application for a charter to establish a new bank at Hastings.

The hearing was conducted by the State Banking Department.

Applying for the charter are C. T. Voorhees and Associates of Hastings. The proposed bank would be called the Hastings State Bank and would be covered by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC).

Hastings presently has two banks — Hastings First National and the Hastings City National. Both are FDIC member banks.

Ralph Misko, State Banking Department director, told Voorhees that his department will decide whether the bank can be established sometime in January. "I am in hopes that a final decision can be rendered by late January," he said. Voorhees is the principal stockholder in banks at Fairfield and Harvard, too.

He told Misko that his family proposed to control about 35 to 40% of the 2,500 shares of stock that would be issued on the bank.

"The rest will be sold to Hastings residents," he said.

The proposed bank would have $50,000 in capital stock, $75,000 in surplus stock and $50,000 in undivided profits.

Serialized Walton School Votes Count

Lancaster County Election Commissioner Fred Cassidy said Tuesday the first 51 ballots in Walton School District's unsuccessful bond election last week were counted even though serially numbered.

Cassidy emphasized the election's outcome would not be affected in the count of the numbered ballots or by the rejection of 17 other ballots because of more glaring irregularities.

It is possible to compare the 51 numbered ballots with the voter tally book and determine how these individuals voted.

Nothing numerous phone calls concerning the disposition of these ballots, Cassidy said they "are sealed in my office" and won't be opened except under court order.

Cassidy said the 51 numbered ballots were counted because these voters were entitled to have their ballots counted even though a mistake was made by the election board.

The controversial bond issue was defeated last week by a vote of 142 to 138.

Had the 51 numbered ballots not been counted, the issue would have been defeated more sharply, 121 to 108.

Cassidy said 283 ballots were cast at the Walton poll on Dec. 11. Three of these ballots were rejected because they were improperly validated: signatures of two election judges are required.

Cassidy said all 14 of the "absentee and disabled voter" ballots were rejected for a variety of reasons.

Not Identified

He said none of these ballots were identified as "absentee or disabled voter" ballots as required by law.

Additionally, Cassidy said, these ballots had not been validated by the signature of the school board's issuing clerk as required by law and all were serially numbered.

Cassidy said several of the ballots were defaced by a notary public seal and two of the ballots were cast by voters residing in the Lincoln School District, not Walton.

Pointing out the rejected ballots would not have affected the required 55% approval, Cassidy said the 17 rejected ballots, even if added to the pro-bond side of the issue, would make the total 155 approving votes out of the 163 required for approval.

Explaining that the school bond election was not conducted by his office, but by the Walton School District, Cassidy said he did not learn the ballots were being numbered until mid-morning of election day.

Put A Halt

"I immediately called out there and put a halt to that," he said.

Cassidy said there was no opportunity for any of the Walton election board to compare the 51 numbered ballots with the tally book.

Cassidy said the slotted ballot box was locked during voting hours and he personally supervised its opening that night and the ballot counting.

Critical of the ballot irregularities, Cassidy blamed the Walton School Board for not hiring an attorney to help supervise the bond election procedural requirements.

Cassidy said his office furnished voter registration books to the Walton election board, but was not consulted on election procedures by Walton School officials.

Board Bounces Late Bid Back

A bid for 20,000 gallons of diesel fuel, received in the county mail before 9:30 a.m. Tuesday but which did not reach the commissioners' hands until after 10 a.m. was returned to the bidder unopened because it was late.

Lancaster County Commissioners refused to accept the bid of Texaco Co. because they did not receive it until after 10 a.m.—the deadline for receipt of bids.

However, it was pointed out by the office secretary that it definitely had reached the court house before 9:30 a.m. but that she had not had time to pick up the office mail until after the board meeting started.

Board Got It

After picking up the mail,

she immediately gave it to the board, which had already opened the other bids and awarded the contract to Marlow Bulk Sales Co. whose .09464 per gallon bid was low.

Other bidders were Hill Oil Co., Weaver Oil Co. and Whitehead Oil Co.

In other action, the board rescinded a lumber contract a ward made last week because of erroneous specifications given bidders.

The commissioners said they will readvertise for bids as soon as the county engineer's office gets the specifications ready.

It was discovered last week after a contract was awarded the apparent low bidder, Century Bridge Lumber Co., that specifications given in the advertisement and to another bidder, Midwest Lumber Co., differed from those given Century and the third bidder, Carter Lumber Co.

County OK's $75,000 In IDA Bonds For Brunswick Plant

Lancaster County Commissioners' at a special meeting Tuesday approved issuing $75,000 industrial revenue bonds to the Brunswick Corp. for construction of a new plant near 27th and Superior.

The bonds and $4.75 million others approved earlier are being issued under provisions of the Industrial Development Amendment (IDA) passed by the 1961 Legislature, which authorizes cities and counties to issue revenue bonds to finance industrial construction.

The new $600,000 Brunswick plant will manufacture second stage Polaris missile casings.

The bonds will be signed in Lincoln Dec. 28.

County officials signed in Chicago last week the $3 million worth issued to the Wander Co. and the $1.75 million worth approved for the Victor Comptometer Corp.

The Wander Co. has nearly completed construction of the new Dorsey Laboratories northeast of Lincoln, and the Victor Corp. plans to build a new plant in the Lincoln Industrial Park as soon as weather permits in the spring.

Lancaster Buys Two Properties For Expansion

Two properties located on the south side of J between 9th and 10th have been purchased by Lancaster County for possible expansion purposes or parking area.

Houses are now located on the premises for which the county paid a total of $50,000.

According to Commissioner William Grossman, the space may be used for alleviating crowded conditions in some offices; however, no specific plans have been made.

The commissioners had appropriated funds in this year's budget to purchase available land near the Courthouse for such expansion and much-needed parking space.

NOW BETTER THAN LATE FOR YULE MAILING

Lincolinites awaiting the final moment before mailing their local Christmas greetings should heed the latest word for Post Office officials: This is the time.

Acting Postmaster Kenneth Lewis explained that the bulk of mail from other cities is expected to deluge Lincoln facilities by Saturday and Sunday, burdening carriers on the final delivery day — Monday.

Local Christmas cards should be mailed Wednesday — Thursday at the latest — in order to insure handling and delivery before the bulk of out-of-town mail arrives in Lincoln.

Monday has been designated as a holiday for federal employees but the Post Office staff will be hard at work. All Post Office facilities will operate as usual, and city and rural deliveries will be made.

On Christmas day, Post Offices will be closed, and only special delivery mail, perishable and late arriving gift packages will be delivered. There will be no rural delivery.

Police Urge Caution During Holidays Against Thefts

Police urged Lincolinites to take extra caution against car prowlers, pickpockets, and house burglars during the holiday season.

Noting that this time of year is the richest of all for these criminals, Detective Capt. Robert Sawdon issued a few tips for Lincoln citizens if they are to "enjoy a merry and prosperous Christmas and New Year's."

Explained the police official:

"We urge that people be especially cautious in securing their cars while doing their Christmas shopping as well as afterward — whenever they leave their cars.

Valuables Unattended

"Shoppers often do part of their buying, take their purchases to their autos, then return to the stores again, leaving many items of value behind unattended.

"If they will place their purchases out of sight—either on the floor of the car or in the trunk — and lock the vehicle securely, they can be sure these gifts will be there when they return.

"This goes for parking lots as well as on-the-street parking. In any place where the car is accessible to prowlers or potential thieves, extra caution should be taken to protect all purchases from loss."

Caution In Home

The home is another area where extra caution is essential, according to Capt. Sawdon. He suggested that Lincolinites always leave a light on in the central portion of their home when they are absent — "to give the appearance that it is occupied."

He said an outside light is also a "good idea when you plan to be away for any period of time."

The detective captain included one final reminder — especially for the ladies — when shopping downtown:

"Women are urged to keep their purses close and secure in the jostling crowds that are filling downtown stores these days.

"It is easy for a pickpocket to remove a billfold and the victim to be none the wiser until she — or he — goes to pay for a purchase."

Following these few precautions, Sawdon said, should make for a merrier Christmas and New Year's for all Lincoln residents.

Dead Coon Put On Meredith's Car At Ole Miss

Oxford, Miss. (UPI) — Negro James H. Meredith found a dead coon on top of his foreign-made car Tuesday just before he left the University of Mississippi campus for the Christmas holidays.

A U.S. marshal got rid of the dead animal before Meredith climbed into the car.

Meredith completed his last class prior to the holidays at 3 p.m. CST.

He walked quickly to his dorm, was inside for about 10 minutes and then walked to his car.

He spotted the dead coon on his way from class, but by the time he arrived back at the car it had disappeared.

Meredith carried no luggage and was alone in the car when he left. Another car occupied by 3 marshals followed him off campus and one of the federal law officers got out when the party arrived in downtown Oxford.

The Negro student left town by a route that could take him either to his hometown of Kosciusko, Miss., or to Jackson—where his wife is a student at an all Negro college.

Meredith refused to tell reporters where he would spend the holidays.

"It would be nice to be with my family," was his only reply when reporters asked.

The Negro student also refused to say whether he would turn up Wednesday for a court hearing in his hometown on a traffic violation. But he indicated strongly he would not. He could simply forfeit the $10 bond instead.

Meredith was arrested over the weekend on a charge of failing to yield the right of way.

The 29-year-old student charged he was treated "like a dog" by the arresting officers.

Kosciusko Mayor Emmitt Carr said no further action would be taken against Meredith if he fails to show up. He posted a $10 cash bond ... if he fails to show up he'll just forfeit his bond," Carr said.

CHURCH DISPLAY NOT TRADITIONAL

Leicester, England (AP)—A crib was unveiled outside the Methodist church here Tuesday with Joseph, Mary and the child Jesus depicted as colored people.

And the traditional 3 wise men were:

An American getting out of a fur-lined car—to represent wealth.

A Russian, arriving by rocket, to represent the benefits of science.

A Nigerian, to represent tradition.

Instead of shepherds there were a policeman and a nurse.

The crib was designed by Frederick Reeves, a nephew of the Rev. Ambrose Reeves, former bishop of Johannesburg who was forced to leave that country because of his stand against apartheid (segregation).

The church minister, the Rev. Arnold Cooper, said after the unveiling:

"Some people were complimentary, others were not. Some people condemned the crib as blasphemous."

POINT BLANK

No Slight

During the confusion which surrounded the Gotham Bowl in New York last weekend, one of the most zany events was the March of Dimes "awards" banquet Saturday night after the game.

As reported earlier, the Miami team did not attend. This fact apparently upset some Nebraskans who felt the Hurricanes were slighting the victorious Cornhuskers by exhibiting unsportsmanlike conduct.

I'll set the record straight: Coach Andy Gustafson was gracious toward Coach Bob Devaney and full of praise for the Cornhuskers. Miami players also demonstrated good sportsmanship after the game and passed out kind words to and for the Huskers.

And the Hurricanes did not skip the banquet because they were poor losers or were trying to slight the winning Huskers.

The story of the post-game banquet merely demonstrates the confusion which surrounded the poorly-organized Gotham venture. Prior to Nebraska's arrival, NU ticket manager Jim Pittenger had been informed that the banquet was a March of Dimes affair, that it was only for dignitaries, etc. Newsmen thought it was a closed, no-player deal until the affair started.

"We were told that our players would be welcome if they wanted to attend, but that they were not required to attend," Pittenger said. "Both the Miami representative and I felt our kids would rather be on their own seeing New York than tied up in a banquet."

Awards Earlier

Also, immediately following the game there was an "awards" luncheon in which the players received watches and other gifts.

"It was our impression that this was to get the regular events for the players out of the way so they could have Saturday night free," Pittenger said.

However, when Nebraska arrived March of Dimes officials contacted Pittenger and informed him that they wanted as many players as possible to attend. So the banquet was put on the Nebraska agenda.

Miami, however, at that late date (Friday evening) obviously did not respond the way Nebraska did—mainly because the bulk of the Miami squad was from the New York area and the boys already had made plans to visit their homes after the game.

Miami Represented

Actually, Miami made the wisest decision. The banquet came close to utter chaos—seating mixups, long-winded speeches, poor service.

Gustafson and Hurricane star George Mira did attend, but only briefly. Andy praised Nebraska, then Mira accepted the Outstanding Player trophy. This was done during the soup course so both could depart for prior engagements.

The Cornhuskers came enmasse, but all but a handful had drifted away by the time the yakking got around to the presentation of the Gotham Bowl to NU. Co-captains Dwain Carlson and Bill Thornton had long since departed, so the award was made to Devaney between yawns.

Bright Spots

While I'm sure the Huskers could have put their Saturday night time to better use than the banquet, there were some bright spots for the Scarlet players and boosters.

One was the chance to give a rousing, standing ovation to Devaney and the other was the breaking of the monotony with a chorus of "There Is No Place Like Nebraska"—launched by the players and their wives.

The Astor Hotel ballroom got its dignity rumpled by a good bunch of Nebraska kids who were going to have fun even if the adults were bound and determined to act like stuffed shirts.

I have no wish to air soiled linen, of course, but all this is mentioned to emphasize an important point: Miami should not be maligned nor held in contempt by Nebraskans because the Hurricanes by-passed the banquet. It's unlikely that they ever heard about it in the first place, probable that they wouldn't have been interested in the second place, and positive that they didn't miss a thing in the third place.

Good Sports

And the Hurricanes, a fine football team, were good sports and excellent competitors. Absence from a banquet which had all the appearances of a fire drill on a Chinese junk should not detract from a great football game.

It was, after all, the coaches and players on the field who demonstrated the only organization and achieved the only success.

PS: The best example of the feeling between the two coaches came at the afternoon awards affair. Gustafson put an arm around Devaney and, with a big grin, said:

"Bob, let's start planning right now. You win the Big 8 next fall and come to the Orange Bowl and we'll try to have a fine team so the Orange Bowl will invite us to play you. We could give 'em another great game like we had today."

So please keep the competing schools, coaches and players out of any post-game wrangles, sports fans. In this big city horse opera, they were the good guys.

Colorado Ski Resort Owners Want Snow

Denver (AP)—Colorado's mild, snowless December is fine for road contractors, but it has ski operators muttering imprecations.

The dollar loss is running into the millions for operators of ski areas, lodge and restaurant proprietors, equipment stores and clothing dealers.

Only a few of the state's ski resorts have been open at all this season and conditions at nearly all of them have been far below par.

D. R. C. Brown, general manager of the Aspen area, said, "We're losing about $1,000 a day just on the lifts.

Skiing conditions are not good and only 3 of our 7 lifts are in operation.

"We still have a chance to come out of this all right if we get another 6 inches of snow, but we need it in a hurry."

The height of the skiing season is from Dec. 20 to about Jan. 5, when youthful sports enthusiasts are on vacation from school and college.

Spain Is Second In Cage Tourney

Taipei, Formosa (AP)—Spain defeated Puerto Rico 76-72 Tuesday night and clinched second place in the 5-nation invitational basketball tournament. Nationalist China edged the Philippines 59-56.

The touring United States team, with a 3-0 record, winds up the competition Wednesday night against the last place Philippines.

Behind the Americans come Spain (3-1), Puerto Rico and Nationalist China, (1-2 each), and the Philippines (0-3).

Huskers 'Toughest' In Back-Alley Fight

By DON BRYANT
Star Sports Editor

Nebraska Extra Point Club Quarterbacks savored the past and licked their chops in anticipation of the future at the Lincoln Hotel Tuesday noon.

It was a "bonus" gathering of the Husker booster clan designed to honor coach Bob Devaney, his assistants and the NU players for their tremendous showing against Miami in the Gotham Bowl.

While movies of the 36-34 win over Miami were unavailable, the QBs got the first public peek at the newly-created "Husker Highlight" film which includes many of the exciting moments of the 1962 campaign, best NU outing since 1905.

And while they oohed, aahed and cheered on various plays, they heard Devaney praise players and point out underclassmen who will figure highly in 1963 plans.

"We know our boys felt good about the season, but were all displeased with the final outcome of our regular season," Devaney said. "We all felt we were a little better—and I'm not taking anything away from a great Oklahoma team—than we played against Oklahoma.

"We all wanted another try—and now we're all left with a better feeling. In fact, now we all feel the season was a fine success."

Devaney added that the "boys who will be back next year will be looking forward to winning again and the seniors who are leaving can depart knowing they played on a fine football team—and that's the way we want it."

The Husker coach praised Miami's George Mira and the Hurricane team, adding that "we feel it was a good effort by our team to come out ahead in this game."

Bob pointed out that the statistics were overwhelmingly in favor of Miami, but suggested the difference would be much closer "if you add in 230 yards in kickoff returns."

EDDIE MACHEN

Machen Sent To Hospital

Fairfield, Calif. (UPI)—Solano County Superior Judge Phil Lynch Tuesday committed heavyweight challenger Eddie Machen to the Napa State Hospital for an indefinite period.

The commitment was made after a 20-minute hearing at the Solano County Hospital here. Machen is being held in the Napa State Hospital.

Two doctors from the hospital testified at the hearing and both said that Machen is "very disturbed."

Dr. Roy Wagner, a psychiatrist; and Dr. Donald Hand of Napa both testified that Machen, when he first came to the hospital last week was mentally disturbed.

"When he arrived, he was very despondent and thought he was going to die," said Dr. Wagner. Both doctors said that Machen, at times, has thought he was doomed and thought they were going to kill him in the hospital.

Machen, a top-ranked heavyweight challenger for the past 5 years, was picked up by the California Highway Patrol last week while sitting in a borrowed automobile near a freeway. He had a loaded pistol and officers said there was a suicide note beside him on the seat.

He battled attendants when first admitted to the hospital and Monday had to be put under restraint again.

Judge Lynch made his commitment ruling without the presence of Machen. The ruling was based on a precedent set in 1961 in Salt Lake City which ruled it was legal to commit a person without the presence of the person involved.

Machen was under heavy sedation at the Napa hospital because of his struggles Monday night.

His problem was diagnosed as "acute schizophrenia."

Machen, a 30-year-old Negro from Redding, Calif., has fought the world's finest fighters for the past half dozen years. Under management of Sid Flaherty, he has battled all the top challengers, including Sonny Liston, before Liston became heavyweight champion.

But he had not been able to save money; had never received a big purse, although he had earned about $300,000 in purses during his 10 years in the ring.

He has been in financial trouble and his wife blamed that for his suicide attempt. Mrs. Machen was present at the hearing Tuesday.

Kenneth Gray, a special investigator for the State Athletic Commission, was present at the hearing and was asked if Machen's license would be lifted. Gray said he didn't know—because there never had been a case like this before.

Bufs Stop Creighton For 5th Straight Win

Colorado Still Unbeaten, 76-55

... SILAS HELD TO 13

Boulder, Colo. (AP)—Sixth-ranked Colorado jumped in front after 5 minutes and never trailed the rest of the way Tuesday night in beating Creighton 76-55 for the Buffaloes 5th straight victory—all at home—without defeat.

Ken Charlton's 14 points boosted Colorado to a 37-24 halftime lead.

Colorado opened the second half by bolting to a 21-point lead 47-26 within less than 3 minutes. Eric Lee, backcourt artist, led the spree with 3 baskets, all layups.

The Buffs, defending Big 8 champions, held 25-point leads several times in the second half before reserves took over with the score 57-36 with 10 minutes, 38 seconds to play.

Both teams substituted freely from then on.

Colorado held a 29-point lead, 68-39, with 5:33 left. Jim Bakos, 6-foot-7 junior center, who hadn't scored up to that point started hitting and led a Creighton surge by scoring 8 points.

Bakos, troubled by early fouls, was charged with his 5th personal with 58 seconds left and departed.

Paul Silas, Creighton mainstay, was guarded by Jim Davis, Colorado's 6-8 star, and scored only 9 points. Silas reciprocated by holding Davis to 9 points too.

Davis left the game after his 4th foul with 16:18 to play and never returned. Silas left with 10:38 to play for a rest and came back with 6:26 to play but it didn't affect the outcome.

Oklahoma Wins Over Texas Tech

Norman, Okla. (AP)—Oklahoma's Sooners used their quick break offense effectively Tuesday night for a decisive 85-62 basketball triumph over the Texas Tech Red Raiders.

The victory enabled the Sooners to move to 3-3 while the Red Raiders suffered their 7th straight loss.

Oklahoma's 85 points broke a Sooner Fieldhouse scoring record, surpassing the 84 total posted against St. Johns.

Eddie Evans counted 26 points in the Sooner rout and this was the career high for the scrappy Oklahoma City senior. His effective floor play and passing also were instrumental in the victory.

Texas Tech grabbed the lead in the first 9 minutes but after the Sooners went ahead 20-18 it was no contest. They continued to a 48-28 halftime advantage and later ran it up to 70-43.

NWU Stomps Doane Mat Team, 32-2

Nebraska Wesleyan nearly scored a clean sweep in taking a 32-2 decision over Doane's grapplers Tuesday night at the Wesleyan Gym.

Doane averted a shutout when Gary Scheet managed a 5-5 draw with Wesleyan's Gary Hoy at 191 pounds for the only Tiger points of the night.

Plainsmen wrestlers scored 3 pins in taking their first win in the mat sport after losing to Midland a week ago in the first wrestling action for Nebraska Wesleyan.

Tom Vaughn (123), Leon Dappen (130) and Ralph Wolfe (167) scored the pins for Wesleyan.

Results:

123—Tom Vaughn (W) pinned Dwight Arvey in 2:08; 130—Leon Dappen (W) pinned Tom Syter in 1:31; 137—John Wilkerson (W) dec. Paul Oppenheim, 5-3; 147—Chuck Sheren (W) dec. Foss Talks Over Titan Sale In NY

New York (AP)—Joe Foss, commissioner of the American Football League, was in New York Tuesday talking to potential buyers of the New York Titans franchise, now owned by Harry Wismer.

"I am talking to several people," said Foss. "I plan to be here most of the week. I cannot say who they are except that they are New York people who would keep the club in New York if they take over."

Although the league had to pick up the Titan's pay checks and travel expenses for the last few games, Foss said Wismer still was the club owner.

Asked how the Titans could go about the business of trying to sign the college players they drafted recently, Foss said, "We have made some arrangements." He refused to elaborate.

AAU Tourney Cut To 12 Teams

Denver (AP)—The field for the National AAU Basketball Tournament March 20-23 will be streamlined to just 12 teams.

The tournament, played here every year since 1936 except one, has drawn as many as 64 teams in the past, although in recent years the list has been red well below that bulky figure.

The champions of 8 regional tournaments will advance to the Denver meet. The regions are North Pacific, South Pacific, Rocky Mountain, North Central, South Central, Great Lakes, North Atlantic and South Atlantic.

Other entries will include the Bartlesville, Okla., Oilers, defending champions; Akron, Ohio; a military all-star team and a Denver team.

Joking that he has been "swamped with offers to lecture on defense since the game," Devaney said, "We felt bad about the way Mira was throwing that ball until we saw the Giants (NFL) the next day.

"Field conditions were such (frozen, hard and slick) that all the advantage belonged to the offensive pass receiver," Bob said. "We went to the drop back in the second half because it was a passing day. Denny Claridge did a good job passing and fellows like Mike Eger, Willie Ross, Dennis Stuewe, Dick Callahan and Dave Theisen made some great catches.

"We did wear Miami down and probably should have scored another touchdown."

Devaney said the Huskers weren't surprised by all the empty seats at Yankee Stadium.

"We were aware that the place wouldn't be packed," he grinned. "We told our kids before the game that it would be just like a back-alley fight—there wouldn't be a lot of people around to watch, but the toughest one would win."

Prior to Devaney's talk, the EPC presented a "money belt" in the form of a service cartridge belt to NU publicist John Bentley who had his pocket picked in a New York theatre lobby.

This prompted Devaney to joke: "Our fine tackle Lloyd Voss asked me to announce that he was robbed in New York, too—at the Copacabana."

The Husker team and coaches were guests of Bennett Martin and the Lincoln Hotel for the event.

Devaney, who spoke at Fairbury Monday night immediately after his return from New York, was a banquet speaker at Norfolk Tuesday night.

Now the Husker coaches head into the recruiting season with an eye toward the future after a fantastically successful beginning achieved in 1962.

Long Huddles Popular In South Pole Football

Washington (AP)—Football is now being played at the South Pole, the Navy reported Tuesday.

A delayed dispatch from the Navy's "Operation Deep Freeze" in Antarctica reported that on Thanksgiving Day a team of seabees defeated a team of American polar scientists, 6-0, in a game played in the frigid atmosphere of the South Pole station, some two miles above sea level.

"A temperature of minus 33 degrees Fahrenheit, a bitter wind, and the rarified atmosphere of the 10,000 feet high polar plateau," said the dispatch, "made playing conditions somewhat less than ideal in comparison with the traditional weather for football's turkey day classics."

The seabees—members of U.S. Naval Mobile Construction Battalion 8—are a part of the Navy's Antarctic Task Force 43 which gives logistical support to a broad scientific research program sponsored by the National Science Foundation.

The game was the brain-storm of Victor J. "Moose" Marino, a 200-pound seabee from Pittsburgh.

Jerry Dudley, a construction electrician from Fayetteville, Ark. scored the lone touchdown, which came in the 4th period of the game.

The struggle lasted an hour and a half, and the players—each wearing some 40 pounds of antifreeze clothing, including heavy boots—were "preserved from exhaustion by—long huddles."

Cincinnati 1st In UPI Poll

New York, (UPI)—Cincinnati's Bearcats, riding a 24-game winning streak, headed the United Press International major college basketball ratings for the 3rd straight week.

Cincinnati, defeated Kansas 75-61, and Kansas, 64-49, during the weekend to bring its season record to 6-0. Despite the impressive victories, the Bearcats received "only" 33 first-place votes—one less than last week.

Duke, which defeated Vanderbilt and Clemson and just managed to get by Louisville last week, received the other two first-place votes from the 35 coaches, 5 from 7 geographical regions, who comprise the UPI board.

Top bracket first round victors collide at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, followed by the lower bracket semifinals between the winners of the Doane-Midland and Wesleyan-Yankton games.

Consolation semifinals come off Thursday at 4:00 and 5:45 p.m. The battle for 7th place will be played at 4 p.m., Friday followed by the consolation finals—for 5th place—at 5:45 Friday.

The championships finals will be staged at 9:15 Friday night, preceded by the 3rd-place game at 7:30.

Gilchrist Is Tops In AFL

New York (AP)—Cookie Gilchrist, a 243-pound fullback who spent 9 years in the Canadian League before he joined the Buffalo Bills, was named Player-of-the-Year in the American Football League Tuesday by an Associated Press committee of writers and broadcasters from the 8 league cities.

Gilchrist made a shambles of league, becoming the first man to gain over 1,000 yards as he ran over people and around them for a total of 1,096 yards on 214 carries.

Gilchrist later was joined in the 1,000-plus club by Dallas' Abner Haynes and Houston's Charley Tolar but won with room to spare.

"I have no college education so it's been a question of money with me all along," said Gilchrist earlier in the season. "I had to battle all the time for the kind of pay I felt I rated."

When the Bills acquired Gilchrist from the Toronto Argonauts last summer he was "waived" out of the Canadian League. He had to overcome a reputation of being hard to handle.

NU TO HOST IOWA STATE WRESTLERS

Nebraska's wrestling team tackles 8th ranked Iowa State Cyclones at the NU Coliseum tonight.

Iowa State was tabbed No. 8 in the nation by NCAA coaches in a pre-season poll.

Coach Bob Mancuso's Huskers are 1-1 for the year. They'll have sophomore Steve Walenz, 115, and senior Mike Nissen, 123, both undefeated, trying to continue their strings.

Iowa State will feature two of the nation's outstanding wrestlers in 157-pound Virgil Carr and 123-pound Lowell Stewart.

GOP Wants 'Full Exposure' After Kennedy Performance

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY
Washington (AP) — To the gratification of his friends and the admiring dismay of his foes, President Kennedy seems to have perfected the art of communication.
So much so that—
The Republican National Committee—reacting to Kennedy's taped radio-TV interview Monday night—announced that "at some future time" it would ask the 3 networks for a similar forum for "full exposure" of the GOP philosophy. It did not say whom it would put on the airways as the Republican champion.

There was general agreement here Tuesday that "Conversation With The President"—the 4-man news conference recorded in advance in the White House office—was a flawless gem of its kind.
If you suspect this verdict could be partisan, listen to

Rep. Clarence J. Brown, Ohio Republican:
"It was," said Brown, "the cleverest piece of political public relations I have ever seen. The President handled himself very ably."
Since 1939
Brown's superlative cannot be taken lightly, because he has been in Congress since 1939 and remembers many a notable advance in the technique of fetching the voters.
He remembers Franklin D. Roosevelt's "fireside chats", for example, and he rates Kennedy's performance ahead of FDR. But then, in FDR's day there was only radio and only the magic voice could come through. The populace could not see the nonchalant tilt of the cigarette holder.
Monday night the nation could both see and hear a poised young president; head packed with statistics and facts; chastened by the mistake of the Bay of Pigs; taking modest satisfaction in the handling of the Cuban confrontation; realizing his enormous burden in a world where "one mistake can make this whole thing blow up"; but concluding that "we ought to be rather pleased with ourselves this Christmas."

DOMINICAN CRISIS APPEARS FINISHED

Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic (AP) — A church-political crisis appeared settled Tuesday night, smoothing the way for the Dominican Republic's first free elections in 38 years.
A Roman Catholic priest's retraction of his charge that a front runner for the presidency was a communist cleared the major obstacle to Thursday's balloting for national, state and municipal governments.

JUAN BOSCH

Qualified
Brown's admiration was qualified, of course. It appeared to be the technique, not the content.
"Many of the President's statements," he said, "could be subject to further discussion."

Favor Re-Entering
However, most of the PRD leaders were known to favor re-entering the campaign. And earlier the PRD officially requested — and received — permission to extend the campaign through Wednesday.

The campaign was to have ended Tuesday night. But the PRD appealed for another day to erase what it called "the communist stain" resulting from the accusation by the Rev. Luitico Garcia.
Provisional President Rafael Bonnelly told Dominicans in a radio-television address that the government "sought to remove Tuesday—and we believe it has been achieved — all obstacles to Thursday's elections."
Bonnelly heads the ruling state council, which was set up last January after the collapse of the Trujillo dynasty begun by the slaying of dictator Rafael L. Trujillo in May 1961. The state council is to turn over power to the elected government in February.

Bosch, directing his appeal to the peasantry in rural areas, and Dr. Viriato A. Fiallo, 63, of the conservative National Civic Union, are the leading contenders for the presidency.

Bosch claimed that the priest's accusation that he was a "Marxist-Leninist" had damaged his campaign among the overwhelmingly Roman Catholic Dominicans. The priest publicly withdrew the charge in a 5-hour radio-television debate.

Away-From-Farm Trend Confirmed

... By Census Bureau

Washington (AP) — The Census Bureau offered further testimony Tuesday to the trend away from the farm. It reported the number of agricultural workers dropped 2.6 million, or 37%, in the 1950s.
During the same decade, the bureau said, the number of manufacturing workers rose 3.2 million, or 21%.

A bureau report also said that men working in the legal and engineering fields are best paid in the experienced industrial labor force.
Surveying median earnings for various industries in 1959, the statisticians said the highest for men was $7,547 in the legal, engineering, and miscellaneous professional services groups.
Among other high-earning industries for men, the median was $6,521 for work with petroleum and coal products, $6,373 for communications, $6,018 for aircraft and parts manufacturing, and $5,877 for air transportation.

Earnings were highest for women in railroads and railway express, where the median was $4,435. The figure for women engaged in making aircraft and parts was $4,202, in petroleum and coal products, $4,111, and in motor vehicles and motor vehicle equipment $4,083.
Median, as used by statisticians, means the halfway point and is not the same as average. A $4,000 median, for instance, means half the workers make more than that and half make less.

Atlas Blows Up After Launching

Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif. (AP) — An Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile blew up about a minute after being launched Tuesday on a training mission.
No one was injured and no facilities were damaged, an Air Force spokesman said. The cause of the explosion is being sought, he added.

Secret Service Will Keep Watch Over Mona Lisa

Nassau, Bahamas (UPI) — President Kennedy Tuesday ordered the Secret Service to guard the Mona Lisa 24 hours a day as long as the famed painting is in the United States.

A special Secret Service detail under veteran White House agent John Campion will begin protecting the painting when it arrives in New York harbor Wednesday aboard the SS France.

The White House said the customs collector in New York had been ordered to give the Mona Lisa free entry as an international courtesy, thus waiving appraisal and examination.

Six Frenchmen traveling with the painting will be admitted as distinguished foreign visitors with no customs examination.

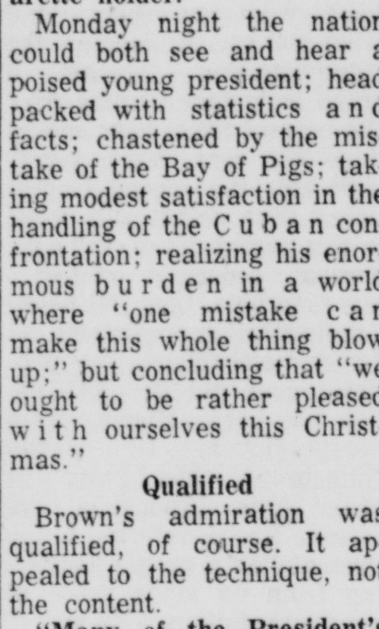

The special Secret Service detail will begin protecting the painting in New York and escort it to the National Gallery of Art in Washington. The 450-year-old work of Leonardo Da Vinci will be displayed in the gallery for 3 weeks.

PEACE CORPS TOLL-4 DEAD, 73 BACK HOME

Washington (UPI) — The Peace Corps said Tuesday that in 16 months of operations overseas, 4 volunteers have died and 73 others have returned to the United States.
A total of 3,642 corps members now are serving abroad in 38 different countries and another 362 are in training.

The corps said that of those who have returned home, 14 resigned, 19 were brought back for medical reasons and 33 have been relieved from duty because of failures to adjust to their work or largely primitive living conditions.

The 4 volunteers who died were all males. Two were killed in a commercial aircraft crash in Colombia mountains last April 22, one was killed in a highway accident in rural Brazil and the 4th died of natural causes in the Philippines last June 9.

Dorothy Dandridge Gets Divorce

Negro singer Dorothy Dandridge talks to her attorney, Robert S. Butts, Tuesday outside a Los Angeles superior courtroom where she was granted a divorce from Jack Denison, restaurant owner, who she claimed interfered with her career. They were married 3½ years ago.

Are Things A Little Noisy? FCC Takes Up Complaints Of Too-Loud Commercials

Washington (UPI)—The Federal Communications Commission Tuesday announced an investigation into "irritatingly loud" radio-television commercials which one complaining listener said woke his baby and even the one in the next apartment.

Pasture Landing Precaution For Helicopter Pilot

An Air Force helicopter landed Tuesday morning in a pasture 300 yards north of Nebraska 2, about a mile east of the highway's Bennett corner.

Capt. Royal E. Foster, pilot and only occupant of the craft, had reportedly noticed gasoline fumes in the cockpit and landed in the field as a precautionary measure.

Capt. Foster was not hurt and the helicopter was not damaged, a Lincoln Air Force Base spokesman said. Capt. Foster resumed his flight to LAFB from an Atlas missile site near Palmyra.

Sandstorm Holds Up 23 Ships In Suez Canal

Port Said, U.A.R. (AP) — Twenty-three ships were blocked in the Suez Canal Tuesday because of a violent sandstorm which reduced visibility to zero.

The ships were in a convoy heading north from Suez to Port Said. Authorities announced that both Port Said and Suez harbor were closed to shipping.

Meanwhile, Alexandria port authorities said high winds and zero visibility forced closing of the harbor and airport there.

Long Hoffa Trial Moves Ahead Rapidly; Should Reach Jury Soon

Nashville, Tenn. (AP)—The protracted conspiracy trial of Teamster president James R. Hoffa moved ahead in a sudden burst of speed Tuesday and the judge said the case should reach the jury Friday.

Closing arguments and the judge's traditional charge remain before the jury of 7 men and 5 women begin their deliberations. The trial began Oct. 22.

Hoffa is charged with conspiring to violate the Taft-Hartley Act by accepting payoffs from a Michigan transport firm as a bribe for labor peace. If convicted on the two-count indictment, he could get a maximum sentence of two years in prison and a $20,000 fine.

"The case should get to the jury on Friday," Federal District Judge William E. Miller said after Hoffa stepped from the witness stand and the defense announced it was through.

Unexpected Maneuver

In an unexpected maneuver, Government Attorney James F. Neal said the prosecution would forego rebuttal testimony. This caught the court by surprise.

"I'm almost shocked," Miller said after a moment of silence.

"What should we do next?"

The jury, locked up since the Dec. 5 air pistol assault on Hoffa by an ex-mental patient, retired and the judge and attorneys spent the remainder of the day discussing procedural matters.

Miller said each side would be allotted 3½ hours for closing arguments, with the government starting its summation Wednesday. Since Miller holds court only 4 hours a day, the defense probably won't commence its final arguments until Thursday.

The government contends Commercial Carriers, Inc. (CCI), Detroit automobile hauler, set up and operated for Hoffa's benefit a truck leasing business, which went by a variety of names including that of Test Fleet Corp.

Test Fleet, chartered here in 1949, was the "conduit" by which the undercover payments flowed from CCI to Hoffa over a 10-year period, the prosecution says. As part of the disguise, Hoffa's interest in Test Fleet was listed in the maiden name of his wife, the government charged.

The Taft-Hartley Act forbids a union official from receiving "any thing of value" other than wages from a company whose employees he represents. The government contends Hoffa got about $600 a month from Test Fleet's operations.

Hoffa, in 2½ days of testimony, denied he had anything to do with the formation or operation of Test Fleet or received any money from its operation.

Extra $56 Million

London (UPI)—The government asked Parliament for an extra $56 million for the National Health Service for the fiscal year 1962-63.
